PASTOR'S NOTES

One easy error to fall into as a priest—and really, as any Catholic—is simply becoming too busy. Most know the feeling. There is always something to do, someone to see, another responsibility waiting. But I heard a beautiful statement recently: We priests have to be careful not to become so busy with the things about God that we forget to spend time with God. A priest can spend an entire day tending to God's Church and God's people—the sacraments, meetings, homilies, administration—and still realize that he has not simply spent much time with God Himself. The same can happen in any Catholic life.

Last week, our priests were together for our annual clergy retreat. Retreat takes us away from the ordinary routine and gives us time to pray, listen, reflect, and simply be together and with the Lord. When I returned home, one particular thought stayed with me: I should spend more time simply reading the Gospels in addition to making a better Holy Hour. Today, I want to tell you about the first:

As a priest, I read Scripture regularly, usually in preparation for preaching. I ask, "What does this mean? What should I preach about? What does the Holy Spirit want me to say?" Those are good questions, but the Gospel can easily become something I am studying for a purpose rather than something I am simply receiving. So, I decided to try something simple. This year we are hearing primarily from Matthew on Sundays, and I have a small separate copy of Matthew's Gospel. Looking through it, I noticed how naturally it falls into short sections—little encounters, teachings, and movements. Then I realized that my day has similar movements.

I wake up and begin the day. I leave home for church or the office. I leave the office for another duty or return home. Later I may leave again for Mass, a meeting, a hospital visit, or a parish event. Eventually, I return home for the night. These are the hinges of the day—the moments when one part of the day closes and another begins.

So, I began what I am calling the Hinge Gospel Method. At one of these built in transitions, I open Matthew and read one short section. That's it. I do not study it. I do not think about preaching it. I simply read it (in order) one chunk per movement and let the Gospel consecrate that movement of my day. The beauty is that I do not have to find another thirty minutes to read in an already busy schedule. The hinges are already there. A Gospel paragraph takes only a minute to read, and I count about seven of these natural transitions in my own day.

The Gospels are meant not only to be studied, but to be received and planted. And one of the ways something becomes rooted in us is by returning to it again and again until it becomes part of our lives. Perhaps try the Hinge Gospel Method yourself. Choose one Gospel and keep it close, almost like your keys. Start at the beginning and go in order. At the hinges of your day—before leaving, upon arriving, or before beginning the next thing—read one short section, remember where you stopped, and continue with your day. No extra half hour. No complicated method. Just let the Gospel enter the movements already built into your life. Get a single copy of a Gospel or print one out to take with you!

A Music Note

We Do Believe, O Lord

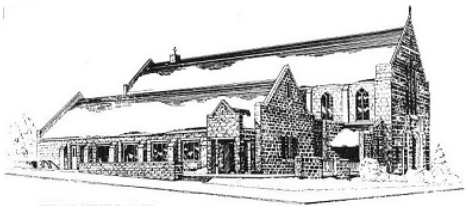

This song is a new Eucharistic hymn composed in 2025 by Diane Mahoney, a member of Divine Mercy Parish in Burlington, Iowa and was selected as the theme song for the National Eucharistic Revival and Congress that was held in Indianapolis in 2025.

Mahoney's inspiration for the refrain comes from the cry of the distressed father asking Christ to heal his son in Matthew, Chapter 9. After the father asks Jesus to heal his son possessed by a spirit, Jesus says that "everything is possible for one who believes." The father cries out "I do believe; help me overcome my unbelief!" Mahoney says about her own faith: "In all truth, although I do believe in the 'real presence' of Jesus in the Eucharist, my enthusiasm sometimes wanes. My vision is clouded by disillusionment or simply by distractions. When I was writing the musical piece, I felt quite certain that many people experience similar feelings of lukewarm faith or even serious doubt. This is what led me to make the choice to make the pronouns plural, 'We do believe, O Lord, help our unbelief." The verses are the text "Ave Verum Corpus" (Hail, true body).

Diane Mahoney has been a church musician since the 1960s and continues to work as an organist and liturgical musician today. She hopes that her music "touches in a very deep place in our hearts and inspires transformation."

Vocations Prayer

Lord Jesus, raise up from our homes those called by the Father:
courageous and humble men to the Priesthood, generous servants to the Permanent Diaconate, faithful people to Consecrated Life, and holy men and women to the Sacrament of Marriage.
Holy Spirit, help us to live our universal vocation to holiness by listening to the Father's voice and responding with a sacrificial love. Holy Mary, Model of vocations, pray for us.

The Liturgy of the Word

First Reading — Isaiah 25:6-10a

On this mountain the LORD of hosts will provide for all peoples a feast of rich food and choice wines, juicy, rich food and pure, choice wines. On this mountain he will destroy the veil that veils all peoples, the web that is woven over all nations; he will destroy death forever. The Lord GOD will wipe away the tears from every face; the reproach of his people he will remove from the whole earth; for the LORD has spoken.
On that day it will be said: "Behold our God, to whom we looked to save us!
This is the LORD for whom we looked;
let us rejoice and be glad that he has saved us!" For the hand of the LORD will rest on this mountain.

The Word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm — Psalm 23

Michel Guimont

I shall live in the house of the Lord all the days of my life.

Second Reading — Philippians 4:12-14,19-20

Brothers and sisters: I know how to live in humble circumstances; I know also how to live with abundance. In every circumstance and in all things I have learned the secret of being well fed and of going hungry, of living in abundance and of being in need.
I can do all things in him who strengthens me. Still, it was kind of you to share in my distress. My God will fully supply whatever you need, in accord with his glorious riches in Christ Jesus. To our God and Father, glory forever and ever. Amen.

The Word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Gospel Reading — Matthew 22:1-10

Jesus again in reply spoke to the chief priests and elders of the people in parables, saying, "The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who gave a wedding feast for his son. He dispatched his servants to summon the invited guests to the feast, but they refused to come. A second time he sent other servants, saying, 'Tell those invited: "Behold, I have prepared my banquet, my calves and fattened cattle are killed, and everything is ready; come to the feast."' Some ignored the invitation and went away, one to his farm, another to his business. The rest laid hold of his servants, mistreated them, and killed them. The king was enraged and sent his troops, destroyed those murderers, and burned their city.
Then he said to his servants, 'The feast is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy to come. Go out, therefore, into the main roads and invite to the feast whomever you find.' The servants went out into the streets and gathered all they found, bad and good alike, and the hall was filled with guests."

The Gospel of the Lord.
Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.

Creed

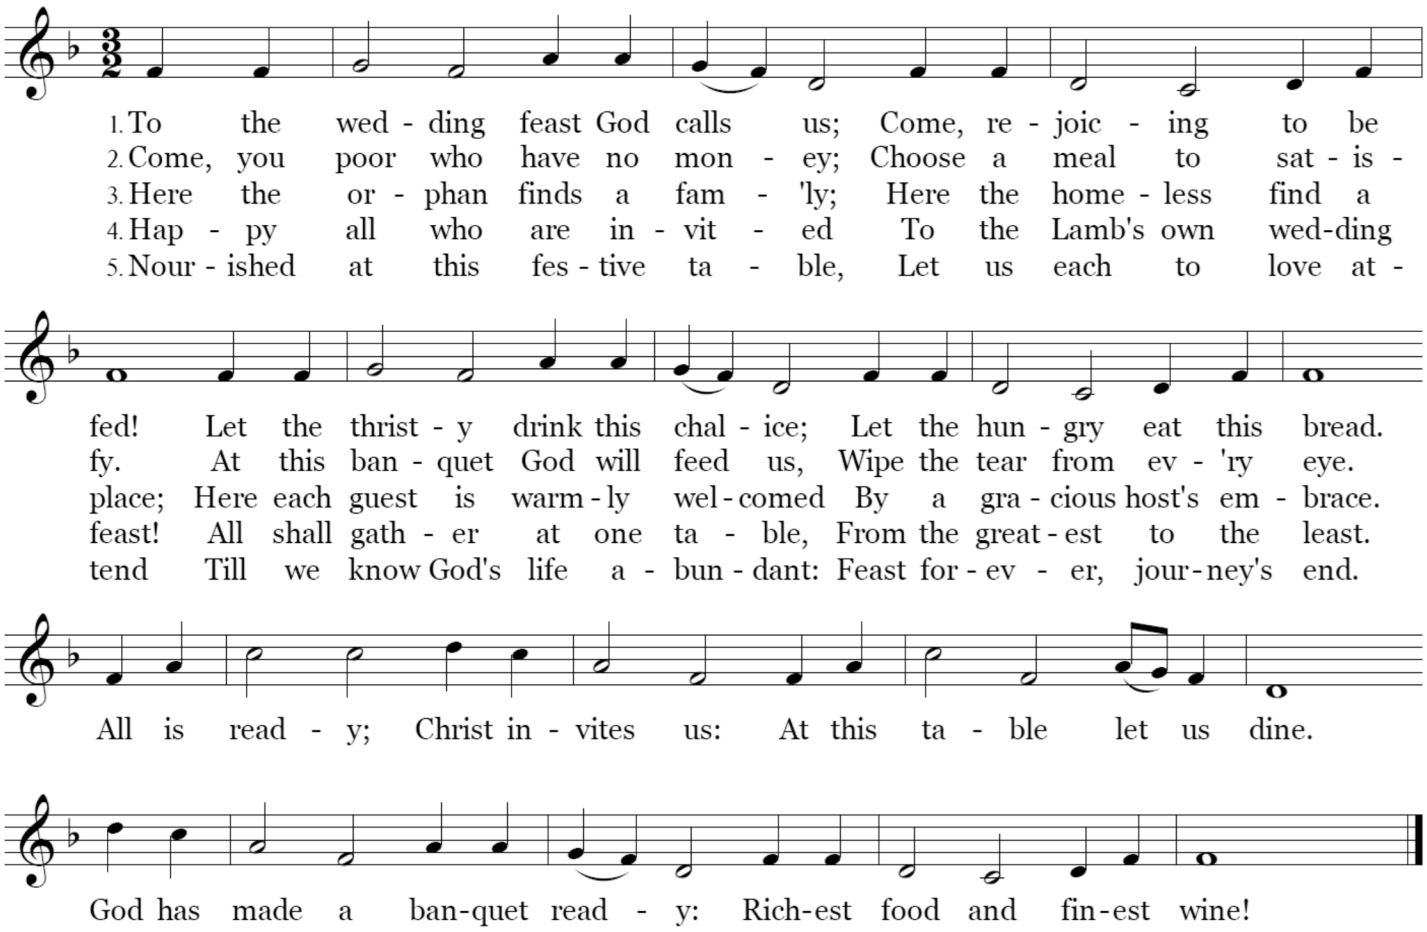

I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages. God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father; through him all things were made. For us men and for our salvation he came down from heaven, and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man. For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures. He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets. I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church. I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and life of the world to come. Amen.
