Pastor's Letter

We can formally announce our new Principal for St. Benedict School. She is Susan Sanders, and she has been part of St. Mary of the Snows Catholic School in Mansfield, Ohio in the Diocese of Toledo, over these past 13 years, including the last 6 years as their Principal. That is a school of a comparable size as St. Benedict School and with some similar dynamics as ours. She is working with Jane Rush with transitional tasks over this month and is looking forward to both sending out a letter of introduction at the beginning of August and having opportunities to meet our parish and school community next month as well.

And, again, Vacation Bible School begins today and our annual Christ Our Light Parish picnic is just around the corner as well. Thanks to all who have served as volunteers for both of those events.

Like the last couple of summers, Vacation Bible School will be held in the evenings this week from today, Sunday evening, through Thursday, July 19th. That has proven to be a better time than mornings for more parent involvement, including fathers.

This year's parish picnic is planned for next Sunday afternoon, July 22nd, starting at 4:30 p.m. at the large pavilion at Cambridge City Park with the City Park Pool reserved for our group from 6:30 – 8:30 p.m. Thanks in advance to many of the Knights of Columbus and other parishioners who are doing a lot of the set up and grilling, and to all who contribute salads and desserts. Good weather, Lord, please!

We were blessed to team up with the Guernsey County Right to Life organization to host the presentation by Rita Marker this past Sunday evening. I had forgotten how passionately she has been a defender of a culture of life over the years. She was on the legal team in the Terri Schiavo case and has made numerous appearances on national news programs, including a debate with Jack Kevorkian. She emphasized the need for people to be clear in their intentions regarding end-of-life issues and to have someone you trust who can advocate for your end-of-life care. Her organization, the Patients Rights Council and their website by the same name – www.patientsrightscouncil.org – has excellent resources for helping us to prepare well. In place of using the term “living will,” she emphasized “advanced directives” or a Protective Medical Decisions Document (PMDD), which they have available at their website. This can help to give peace and confidence in facing medical needs.

May the Lord help us to serve and witness together, alive in Him, always ready for the gift of eternal life.

READINGS FOR THE 16TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

July 22, 2018

The gospel calls us to be people of prayer. Like the disciples, we, too, are invited by Jesus to find a place of rest, a place of quiet prayer where we can be renewed in body, mind and spirit. As we gather to celebrate the Eucharist, let us place ourselves in the presence of God.

The focus of the readings is God's loving care for everyone, expressed in the image of a shepherd. In Israel, the concepts of king and shepherd were often related. As the shepherd bore the responsibility or the needs of the flock, so the king was responsible for the needs of the people. Jeremiah expresses anger that the recent kings of Israel have not fulfilled this responsibility well. In this particular passage he denounces them for turning the people away and scattering them. The emphasis seems to be on the failure of the king to hold them together as a people united to their God. They had become like sheep without a shepherd. God promises a future king/shepherd who will do what is right.

The gospel passage picks up this theme very subtly. Jesus, though tired and in need of rest, stays with the hungry crowd and teaches them because "they are like sheep without a shepherd." This passage leads to the famous "Feeding of the 5,000," and so Mark has presented Jesus as the shepherd who feeds by teaching and feeds with bread.

Jeremiah 23:1-6

Behold the days are coming when I will raise up a righteous shoot to David.

- How faithful have you been to the witness of your faith to those entrusted to you (children, spouse, etc.)?

Ephesians 2:13-18

Through him we have access in one Spirit to the Father.

- How have I been made a "new person" in Jesus Christ?

Mark 6:30-34

Come away by yourselves to a desert place and rest a while.

- How faithful am I to prayer? How could I become more a person of prayer?

Jesus welcomes the Apostles back from their training mission during next week's Sunday Gospel. We can connect that with today's Gospel.

During today's (Sunday, July 15th) Gospel, Jesus authorized the Apostles to go out and show, through signs and wonders like healing and deliverance, that the Kingdom of God was in their midst. As the prophet Amos emphasized in the First Reading today that he was not a "professional" prophet, the Apostles too probably had never imagined that they would be doing what they were sent out to do. The prophet Amos had worked as a shepherd and as a tree farmer. God inspired him to go and be a prophet. The Apostles had a range of personal backgrounds such as fishermen and tax collector. In Jesus' eyes that would help to get people's attention; that ordinary people were raised up to do prophetic and priestly ministries such as preaching repentance, driving out demons in Jesus' name and anointing people with oil and healing them would show something special about the Kingdom of God Jesus had been proclaiming. The Kingdom of God, experienced as the Church he was establishing, would have an expanded and fulfilled understanding of priestly and prophetic ministries.

Next week, they return from their mission and Jesus invites them to go away from the busier town of Capernaum across the lake to rest and reflect on what they had experienced. Hopefully they had a peaceful and restful boat ride!

Once they arrived at the other side of the lake, their quiet break time quickly ended! People had watched them leave and hurried around the lake to meet them on the other side. The Sea of Galilee is about 30 miles in circumference, so imagine that they travelled about half that distance. Although Jesus did want the Twelve to have some rest, the witness of what it means to be a shepherd of the Church that Jesus was establishing was even more essential. Jesus showed them what it means to be a good shepherd by his heart-felt response to the situation before them: "his heart was moved with pity for them, for they were like sheep without a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things" (Mark 6:34).

The First Reading and Responsorial Psalm for next week reflect this theme as well.

Note what Psalm 23 says about God, our Good Shepherd. The first half of that psalm talks about God in the third person, describing him as one who leads us to restful waters and verdant pastures. Then, as King David reflects upon God as our Good Shepherd in moments when we're immersed in death – walking through the dark valley – he begins to write in second person. He starts to talk to – indeed, pray to – God rather than simply talk about God.

In the First Reading, the prophet Jeremiah both warned about the danger of negligent shepherds and gave encouragement about how the Messiah would be a good shepherd. In this Jeremiah showed the two basic actions of a prophet: warning and encouraging. We give thanks to God that in Jesus we see both of these actions fulfilled. Jesus is the priest, prophet and king who fulfills these roles sacrificially and lovingly. May he draw us into the effects of his sacrificial love not only in our world but also in our own hearts and lives.
