The Chalkboard

St. Benedict School Faithfully Educating God's Children Since 1911

Thank you to everyone who supported our recent school Book Fair. It was a huge success with over $5,000 in sales! Sr. Helen Marie is able to purchase many new books and resources for our school library.

It's Parent Teacher Conference time! Next Wednesday, November 7, and Thursday, November 8, parents and students will meet with classroom teachers to discuss student progress. The school will not be in session on Friday, November 8, or Monday, November 12, for a brief fall break.

We are building a Wall of Food during the month of November. The school community is collecting non-perishable food items to be donated to Grace Pantry. In addition, each month a classroom from grades 4-8 will have an opportunity to visit the Pantry and put their faith in action by helping sort food items.

Stewardship is our virtue of the month for November. Students will learn what it means to return to God the first fruits of your time, talents and treasure as they learn about the saints who modeled this virtue.

Have a blessed week!

In His Name,

Sue Sanders, Principal

READINGS FOR THE 32ND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

November 11, 2018

We are challenged by the faith of two women: the widow who gives Elijah the last of her food and the widow who puts her last small coin in the temple collection box. These women point to two hard teachings: that we are not to be overly proud of the small percentage we give back to God and that we should prepare to give everything. Such lessons are hard to hear, so let us pray together for open minds and hearts.

The focus of our reading is giving generously—not of excess, but from our need. Underlying this giving, of course, is faith. Faith allowed the widow to give all she had to live on at the request of the prophet Elijah. She was rewarded by God’s generosity. In the Gospel, Jesus praises a poor widow for giving two small coins to the temple treasury. Her gift was praised by Jesus, not for its amount, but because it was all

...she, out of her poverty, put in everything —
all she had.

she had to live on and this was an expression of her faith and total gift of self. We may be assured that his praise was accompanied by salvation since the Gospel consistently assumes faith and total surrender as prerequisite for salvation.

1 Kings 17:10-16

The poor widow give all she has to Elijah.

- To whom would I give all that I have?

Hebrews 9:24-28

Christ suffered for our sins.

- How do I acknowledge that I have been freed from sin through the suffering of Christ?

Mark 12:38-44

The widow’s mite.

- How do I share my “treasure” with God, the Church, the poor and needy?

Next week’s Gospel will be drawn from Mark 12, getting closer to the end of that Gospel. And, likewise, we are drawing closer to the end of our “liturgical” (i.e. “Church”) year as well. The readings’ themes, therefore, both offer some important summary statements by Jesus and provide some insights into the “end times.”

Throughout the Bible, God is revealed to us both as being the awesome creator of the universe, worthy of our most profound respect, and as being filled with kind and generous compassion. In an important summary statement, Jesus shows us the primary reason God grows angry.

God does not like hypocrisy. That word has its roots in the Greek word for “actor.” God does not like it when we pretend about our faith. Jesus is highly critical of people who put on a show in order to derive material and social benefit from their faith. He wants both our heart and our actions to be genuine and focused on what is good (and on the One who is Goodness itself).

In next Sunday’s Gospel Jesus is in Jerusalem with his disciples, not long before he would be betrayed. Just before observing people express their faith by making monetary offerings to the Temple treasury, Jesus warned his disciples to avoid the hypocrisy of some of the religious scribes. Jesus noted that a number of them would recite lengthy prayers in order to receive both large monetary gifts and adulation and honor from other people. Jesus was highly critical of their life of show. In fact, he warned that people who do such things “will receive a very severe condemnation.”

This criticism is consistent with other parts of the Bible. For example, Jesus commends St. Nathaniel for his honesty when he meets Jesus for the first time. There, which we can read in the second chapter of the Gospel of John, Jesus doesn’t mind that Nathaniel is blunt in wondering if anything good can come out of Nazareth. Jesus even calls Nathaniel “a true Israelite,” because there is no duplicity, no hypocrisy, in him. The very word “Israel” itself means “to wrestle with God.” The Jewish people came from one of the twelve tribes that grew from the twelve sons of Jacob. Jacob had been renamed “Israel” by God after a full night of wrestling with the angel of the Lord. God is critical of hypocrisy but tremendously merciful toward honesty, especially when we acknowledge our need for God and for a true and living relationship with God – not just going through the motions with God.

May the Lord give us the encouragement we need to honestly and trustingly enter into a relationship with our savior, Jesus Christ, who wants to help us to be prepared for the gift of eternal life!

Pastor's Letter

Bishop Monforton sent us a letter this week asking for prayers as he and the other bishops of the United States prepare for one of their two annual meetings. He stated in the letter that he intends to observe from Monday, November 5th, through Sunday, November 11th, as a whole week of intensified prayer and fasting in advance of the bishops' meeting on November 12th through 14th, in large part due to additional discussion and decision-making with regards to clergy sexual abuse. He asked that we include several prayers of intercession within our Sunday Mass prayers for his intentions and invites us to join him in seeking the Lord's mercy and guidance for their upcoming meeting.

Bishop Monforton likewise this week voluntarily submitted to the media and to all of the prosecuting attorneys' offices throughout our 13-county diocese information about all of the priests over the history of our diocese who have been credibly accused of sexual abuse of minors. This list of 16 priests and one seminarian includes those who had been removed from ministry as far back as 1952 and ten who are already deceased. Bishop Monforton chose to publish this information to re-emphasize his desire for transparency. Please keep in prayer any and all victims of abuse who have suffered because of actions of clergy of the Diocese of Steubenville. Please also keep in prayer all of the 236 priests and 5 bishops who have served our Diocese since 1944, with the vast majority doing so with integrity and faithfulness and sacrificial love for the people they've served. May the Lord help all of us who continue in ministry in the Church to be ever more open to the grace and guidance of the Holy Spirit.

On a very different theme, please note that throughout the month of November we will have envelopes and 3x5 cards on the altars with the names of people we are keeping in remembrance. In the packets of offering envelopes you may have noticed one for All Souls Day that includes several blank lines. That's where you could write the names of people you would like to keep in remembrance in particular. Even though we're already several days into November now, those envelopes could be turned in on subsequent Sundays (or mid-week too) and will be added to those that are already on the altars. And, if you can't find that envelope or are not yet receiving offering envelopes, you could simply write the names of those you'd like remembered onto a 3x5 card and, again, either place it in the weekly collection basket or you could bring it by the parish office during the week as well.

May the Lord help us all to journey together ever more joyful and thankful, always ready for the gift of eternal life.
