From the Workbench

Alleluia! He has risen!

It has been a week of celebrations: rejoicing that the Lord is near, rejoicing that lent is over and rejoicing that meat is back on the menu in the rectory!

This Sunday concludes the octave of Easter. For eight days the church rejoices in a particularly profound way. Each day is a continuation of the great liturgy that we celebrate at the Easter vigil. This year we had the great blessing of baptizing two people at the vigil and bringing another person into full communion with the church, that is reason for great rejoicing for the community of St. Marys!

This weekend we also celebrate the Divine Mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is with great love that the Lord died and rose again for our sins, and it is that great love that the Lord expresses when he bestows his mercy upon us.

We receive the Lord's mercy in many different ways in our lives but most profoundly in the sacrament of reconciliation. In the gospel this weekend we hear the Lord wishing peace on his disciples and giving them the power to bind and loosen the sins of the people. The Lord entrusted to them this great ministry of mercy so whenever we need to reconcile ourselves to God in a profound way, we can know he is present in the sacrament.

Let us rejoice always in the Lord!
