Love One Another, Come What May

Rev. Chip Hines
Pastor

God is love, and whoever remains in love remains in God and God in him. (1 John 4:16)

There you have it, a simple understanding of what it means to be a Christian. It's not about power; it is about love. It is not about who's making the decisions; it is about decisions made in love.

My friend and deceased mentor Monsignor Mehm once told me: "Some people will always question your motives. Some people will always think you're doing something that isn't on the up and up." I have found that to be true. At a fundamental level, people distrust change and they distrust new people. My takeaway from the first letter of John is that the Christian should not be this way.

The Christian should have the position that "if God so loved us, we also must love one another. No one has ever seen God. Yet, if we love one another, God remains in us, and his love is brought to perfection in us." We must love one another. That's a tough one isn't it? I mean, some people make it very hard for us to love them and yet we must. This is why the Christian life is so riddled with people who struggle, because of this precise thing, that we must love one another and loving one another means that even if someone does something we dislike we treat them as the child of God they are. The Christian is supposed to be turning the other cheek, loving their neighbor and a host of other commands that Jesus gave.

A Catholic parish should be an expression of this love too. A Catholic parish has a way of rallying around all its members and embracing them, even if they have ways about them they find difficult. We will not always be perfect at this, but we must try to be the kind of people who despite our human desire to have things "as they have always been" or say, "we've always done it that way," we can adjust to change and perhaps even find new ways of loving our fellow parishioners or loving the new ways of doing things, whatever those new things may be. God through His Son the Christ wants this of us.

Can we do it? Yes we can! We can do it by embracing the concept of change in our lives. We can do it by loving those who disagree with us. We can do it by being involved in parish life. We can do it by having patience. We can do it by remembering that we are all children of the loving God. We can do it by being people of the Word. We can do it by frequenting the sacraments, especially Eucharist and confession. We can do it by having an active prayer life. We can do it by learning about our faith through the great Catholic spiritual masters. We can do it by being kind to one another. We can do it by cutting out cynicism and hatred in our lives. Yes, my friends these are just but a few ways we must act so as to love one another. Let us continue to walk this path together seeing and embracing the Lord in one another.

Peace.

Second Collections

Thank you to all the parishes for your generosity in last week's second collection for earthquake relief in Nepal, where the humanitarian crisis is ongoing. If you were unable to make a donation, please visit www.crs.org/donate. The parishes donated the following amounts:

- Blessed Sacrament Parish: $2,536
- Our Lady of Sorrows Parish: $1,650
- St. Mary Parish: $3,119

This week's second collection supports the Catholic Communication Campaign (CCC). If Jesus Christ began his ministry today, how would he spread his message of salvation? Wouldn't he use all communication vehicles to share the Good News? The CCC believes Jesus would use as many means as possible, and that is why it supports projects that use the entire array of media tools available today to evangelize and promote Gospel values. Please visit www.USCCB.org/ccc for more information. 50% of the collection remains at the parish to promote local communication efforts, such as website technology and bulletins.

Next week's second collection supports the formation and training of seminarians in the Archdiocese of Boston for future service, as priests. We are blessed that many are responding to the call to serve as priests. Please be generous and support these seminarians on their journey toward their ordination to the priesthood. For more information, please visit www.VocationsBoston.org.

A Celebration of Two

Please join Fr. Chip, Fr. Joe and Fr. Vinnie for a gathering honoring Marie Martin and Jeanette Penza who will retire from their work at Blessed Sacrament Parish at the end of June. These ladies have given so much of themselves to the people of their parish and the collaborative and have become an integral part of our lives. The celebration will begin with Mass at Blessed Sacrament Parish on Sunday, June 7 at 11am followed by a reception luncheon in the Blessed Sacrament School gym and cafeteria.

Mass & Healing Service

A Mass and Healing Service will be held at Blessed Sacrament Church this Sunday, May 17 at 2pm with Fr. Joseph P. McDermott.

All those who have physical illnesses, as well as those burdened or suffering emotionally, mentally, spiritually, psychologically, or financially are cordially invited to come and pray with us. You may pray for your own needs or the needs of others.

If you would like a list of all the healing services, usually being held on the last Sunday of the Month, please call the Blessed Sacrament parish office at 508-668-4700 and the Healing Service Calendar will be mailed to you.

Memorial Day Mass

Come celebrate the Annual Memorial Day Mass on May 25 at 9am in the St. Francis Cemetery in Walpole. Memorial Day is a special day to remember our Veterans as well as the deceased members of our families and friends. This Mass is a wonderful opportunity to bring the parishes in our Collaborative together in prayer. Won't you consider joining us at this beautiful Mass? Most folks park along Washington Street and car pooling is suggested. Please bring a chair so you will be comfortable. Refreshments will be served after the Mass in the cemetery. In case of rain, there will be a sign at the entrance of the cemetery and this Mass will be celebrated at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Thy Kingdom Remains

Today's First Reading begins by giving us a time-frame—the events take place during the days between Christ's ascension and Pentecost. We're at the same point in our liturgical year. On Thursday we celebrated His being taken up in glory, and next Sunday we will celebrate His sending of the Spirit upon the Church.

Jesus' prayer in the Gospel today also captures the mood of departure and the anticipation. He is telling us today how it will be when He is no longer in the world.

By His ascension, the Lord has established His throne in heaven, as we sing in today's Psalm. His kingdom is His Church, which continues His mission on earth.

Jesus fashioned His kingdom as a new Jerusalem, and a new house of David (see Psalm 122:4-5; Revelation 21:9-14). He entrusted this kingdom to His twelve apostles, who were to preside at the Eucharistic table, and to rule with Him over the restored twelve tribes of Israel (see Luke 22:29-30).

The twelve apostles symbolize the twelve tribes and hence the fulfillment of God's plan for Israel (see Galatians 6:16). That's why it is crucial to replace Judas—so that the Church in its fullness receives the Spirit at Pentecost.

Peter's leadership of the apostles is another key element of the Church as it is depicted today. Notice that Peter is unquestionably in control, interpreting the Scriptures, deciding a course of action, even defining the nature of the apostolic ministry.

No one has ever seen God, as we hear in today's Epistle. Yet, through the Church founded on His apostles, the witnesses to the resurrection, the world will come to know and believe in God's love, that He sent His Son to be our savior.

Through the Church, Jesus' pledge still comes to us—that if we love, God will remain with us in our trials and protects us from the evil one. By His word of truth He will help us grow in holiness, the perfection of love.

—Dr. Scott Hahn

Catholic Spiritual Writers: Saint John of the Cross

One day, as I walked down the steps to the subway in New York City. I found the tunnel deserted. The light was dim. The air didn't stir. The surroundings mirrored my own inner emptiness. I was still mourning the death of my father, and I felt very alone. Then, from somewhere in the shadows, music from a single violin reached through my desolation. Not only is someone else here, I thought, this someone has been here before and knows this is a good place.

That violinist was like St. John of the Cross sounding the mystery of God. St. John is known as Spain's greatest lyrical poet. His books, The Ascent of Mount Carmel, The Spiritual Canticle, The Living Flame of Love, and The Dark Night, are remarkable road signs for us on the mystical road to union with God. God's eternal silence is sung in John's writings, so that our soul can hear it described in words that speak of desire: bride, garden, hidden fountain, darkness, healing, bridegroom, beloved.

John de Yepes y Álvarez knew what success felt like. His projects had gone smoothly, and the Carmelite Order entrusted him with positions of leadership. It was not long after his ordination that the young John met the wise Teresa of Ávila. She invited him to join her reform of Carmel. But the reform Teresa and John introduced angered many in the Order. John was kidnapped and imprisoned. It was during this imprisonment that John wrote his most influential books.

When we find ourselves entering a crisis of faith, hovering on the edge of hope, we have received an invitation to go deeper. John encourages us not to walk away from but to go through whatever it is we face, because in the final analysis it will lead us to freedom in love. This purified love will be greater and stronger than anything we have encountered. John describes this as a time God gently and lovingly awakens in our heart as we enter an unknown land and travel unknown roads. The journey through crises is a journey toward new birth. To be Christian is not to maintain, it is to transform. To reach our destination we wait, listen, and set out. Waiting implies staying in a solitary place while longing to arrive. It means moving onto the train, where we remain standing. Once the door opens, we walk out into God's loving gaze, reflected on our face.

Transitions in life can be difficult, especially today when we long for stability in a changing world. Our former way of seeing and choosing no longer works. It is in these circumstances that the invitation to transformation is given.

As our companion, John of the Cross lets us in on the secret way to serenity in the midst of a dark, pathless night. What we love and what we have lost reawaken us to a new encounter with the Divine. John presents the night as an inflow of God, more lovely than the dawn. Let yourself be carried by God, he encourages. God loves that you may love God with the love God has for you. This love is "poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit" (Rom 5:5), the spring that flows and runs, although it is night.

Parish Offertory Survey

Based on feedback from the recent Town Hall meeting in March, Fr. Chip and the parish's leaders have put together a survey to garner feedback from parishioners specifically on their financial giving. This is not meant to imply that money is the most important topic facing our parish, but it's just one of the pressing issues being addressed. If you wish to participate, please fill out the form online at www.oloss Sharon.org/2015-parish-offertory-survey or pick up a paper survey in the back of the church or in O'Connell Hall and return by May 22.

The Power of God

It's intriguing what qualifies as power in our world. People debate about the right to carry concealed weapons.

Whether such a right keeps people safer is in question, but certainly it makes people feel more powerful. Our democratic process is marvelous, but the campaigns to determine who gets presidential power are, sadly, messy and undignified. We have the ability to wield power, but we often forget that ultimate power belongs to God. Our Ascension readings remind us that no human power can compare with "the surpassing greatness of his power for us who believe" (Ephesians 1:19). As if Jesus' Incarnation and resurrection weren't enough of a display of God's power, now Jesus ascends to heaven to his glorified place with the Father. God's mighty actions make our guns, authority figures, and defenses seem weak.

Perhaps we forget God's great power because it's not as visible as our human displays of power. Yet God continues to work mighty deeds—we know of amazing miracles that can be ascribed only to God's power. But also, God's power works in us—the Church. We have to be open enough to let God work through us, and that can be a challenge.

But Jesus promised to be with us always. If we trust in his very real power moving through us, we'll be amazed at what can be accomplished in our friendships, families, neighborhoods—even in our world.

Father Bullock Run, Walk, Shuffle

Father Robert Bullock was the Pastor at Our Lady of Sorrows for 26 years, until he passed away in 2004. He was an avid runner, and since 2005 the Fr. Mass of Anointing

Every year Blessed Sacrament Parish celebrates a special Mass that includes the Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick. This Mass will be held on June 6 at 1pm in the Blessed Sacrament School auditorium. Ramps are located at the entrance of the auditorium for easy access. Light refreshments are also served immediately following the Mass. We invite families from all the parishes in our collaborative to this communal celebration of the Sacrament of Anointing of the Sick. The location makes this Mass especially convenient for folks who would have a difficult time entering a church with stairs. Won't you take advantage of this wonderful opportunity to come together as a community to celebrate with each other this wonderful sacrament of healing?
