

Welcome to

The Church of Saint Luke

A Roman Catholic Community of Disciples

August 23, 2015
Twenty-First Sunday
In Ordinary Time

As for me and my household,
we will serve the LORD.
— Joshua 24:15b

FIRST READING: Joshua 24:1-2a, 15-17, 18b

SECOND READING: Ephesians 5:21-32

GOSPEL: John 6:60-69

"It is the spirit that gives life, while the flesh is of no avail. The words I have spoken to you are Spirit and life. But there are some of you who do not believe." Jn 6:63- 64a

Reflection: Reflect upon/share about the most life-giving person you know? What is it about them that is life giving? Is that "life-givingness" more a part of their spiritual presence or their physical presence? How can you open yourself more to our Lord's life-giving presence in the Eucharist? How can you be Eucharist for others?

Alternative:

Share about an event or experience in your life that made you feel most alive. What is it about that experience that made you feel so alive? How does that compare to your experience of people who make you feel alive. How can you open yourself to our Lord's life giving presence in the Eucharist?

Mission Statement

The Church of St. Luke is a joyful, welcoming, caring, active family of believers striving to grow in knowledge of and love for God and each other. Challenged by the Word, nurtured by the Eucharist, and enlivened by the Spirit, we seek to live the message of Jesus in serving the needs of others both within our Parish and in the larger community.

FROM: THE PASTOR

(This is a republishing of an article from Oct 30, 2011)

Dear Parishioners,

I read an article in the current issue of America magazine about Albino Luciani, Pope John Paul I, who was pope for only 33 days before he died. The article talked about his humility and quoted his writing: "Lived holiness is very much more widespread than officially proclaimed holiness... Coming into Paradise, we will probably find mothers, workers, professional people, students set higher than the official saints we venerate on earth." I agree with him and think we might all live better if we keep this in mind.

It made me reflect on a feeling I have that we neglect the study and teaching of an appropriate spirituality for lay people who live and work in the world. It would be a spirituality which recognizes that the busyness of their lives, their work, their workplace stresses, the shopping for food for the family, the laundry, the ferrying kids back and forth from school, sports and extracurricular activities, the taking care of aged parents, the relaxation and recreational activities with friends, neighbors and family, the participation in the life of neighborhood and community, etc. is all a part of their spirituality.

I've noted before how I like the title of a book I have, Let Ministry Teach, which is all about reflecting on God's presence and action in your ministry as a way of growing in relationship to God. I've remarked about how preaching is a major ministry of mine which has become central to my spirituality. It includes my encounters with God in the work I do preparing for homilies, how I hear God speaking to me through my own homilies and how I try to put what I preach into action in my life (with the emphasis on "try"). I am also more and more aware of how God is working with me in, and through, the one-on-one ministry I do. I notice His presence more and more the more I back my own ego out of the situation. These small moments of my life are more a part of my spirituality than any formal prayer time except for the Mass.

The Mass, and in particular our Sunday Eucharistic gathering, is central to my spirituality because it is where I make an offering of the those small moments of my life to God. When Vatican II said that the Mass is where we offer the sacred victim, Jesus, to the Father and we are supposed to learn to offer the sacrifice of our lives with him, that made sense to me. It also made sense to me to learn that we come to communion to be built into the Body of Christ and be sent out into the world be the Body of Christ. That makes all of my small moments part of the mission of the Church and I find that to be an awesome honor and responsibility.

Consequently, I think the Mass should be the center of any lay spirituality. I don't think it should be viewed as a retreat from the craziness of everyday life, an hour of calm in the midst of a week of struggle, but should be the glue that holds everything together. It should make us more willing or eager to do all the things we do because we recognize that we do them for a higher cause. It should make us more eager to return to lay what we have done throughout the week before the altar and ask for nourishment for that which we are about to do in the week to come. It seems to me the best way to make life here on earth coherent with our faith in the eternal life toward which we are all striving.

In His Service,

Fr. Ron

TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading — Joshua challenges the Israelites to serve either the Lord or other gods. They choose the Lord (Joshua 24:1-2a, 15-17, 18b).

Psalm — Taste and see the goodness of the Lord (Psalm 34).

Second Reading — Paul reflects on how husbands and wives should reverence and love each other (Ephesians 5:21-32 [2a, 25-32]).

Gospel — Master, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life (John 6:60-69).

KEEPING OUR COMMITMENTS

In the musical Fiddler on the Roof, the husband, Tevye, whose marriage was arranged years and years before, wants to know if his wife really loves him. Was their marriage just an arrangement, a deal? Did his wife, after all these years, ever love him? Does she still?

We need to know if our loving commitments stick. We need to be reminded and reaffirmed. In the first reading, Joshua, Moses' successor, needed to know if the people would remain faithful to their covenant with the Lord. Joshua was going to lead them to a new life—a settled life. Would they be faithful?

Jesus, who identified himself as the very life of his disciples' life, needed to know: Will you also go away or will you stay? We do not often see Jesus this vulnerable. Peter and the apostles chose to stay. What will we do?

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

The ministry of permanent deacons has become an essential part of our parish life today, yet for centuries until 1967, this deeply traditional ministry had virtually disappeared. Every priest had first to be ordained a deacon, but the notion that one could actually embrace a permanent vocation to the diaconate was lost.

The primary ministry of the deacon is to the welfare of the community, especially its poor, and his role in sacraments and preaching flows from that. His principal role is to animate and promote the ministry of all the faithful. Ninety percent of permanent deacons are married, although the discipline of celibacy for clerics means that if a deacon is widowed, normally he cannot remarry, nor can an unmarried deacon marry once ordained. The deacon does not preside at Mass nor may he absolve sins. Nor, since anointing of the sick is linked theologically to penance, may he anoint.

Sometimes we are slow to engage with a tradition: Trent approved permanent deacons in the 1560s, but nothing was done until the 1960s. The vitality of the long-delayed restoration has greatly enriched the Church, particularly in the United States, where the majority of the deacons in the world serve.
