If we have died with Christ, we believe that we are also to live with Christ.

-Romans 6:8

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: “Lord, teach me to love prayer, teach me to love what will occupy my mind for all eternity.” —Blessed John Henry Newman

SCRIPTURE FOCUS: The parable [this Sunday] is the one concerning the rich man who gives talents to three of his servants and then sets out on a journey. Upon his return, he assesses the situation and discovers that the servant to whom he had given five talents had invested them fruitfully and that the servant to whom he had given three talents had done the same. But he finds, to his chagrin, that the slave to whom he had entrusted one talent had simply buried the wealth and had garnered neither gain nor interest. Angered, he orders that the one talent be taken from the timid servant and given to the servant who had invested most boldly. And then comes the devastating moral lesson: “For to everyone who has, more will be given and he will grow rich; but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away.”

The standard reading of this story—on display in thousands of sermons—is that the talents symbolize gifts and abilities that God has given to us and that he expects us to “spend” generously or “invest” wisely. This interpretation is supported by the fairly accidental relationship that obtains between “talent” in the ancient Biblical sense of the term and “talent” in ordinary English today. A talent in ancient times was a measure of something particularly weighty, usually silver or gold. A single talent might represent as much as 50 pounds of precious metal and, as such, was not something that one carried around in one’s pocket. We might make a comparison between a talent and a unit of gold kept at Fort Knox, or an ingot of silver preserved in a safe deposit box. What the contemporary reader will likely miss, and what the ancient Jewish reader would have caught immediately, is the connection to heaviness: a talent was weighty, and five talents was massively heavy. Heaviness would have brought to mind the heaviest weight of all, which was the kabod of Yahweh. That term was rendered in Greek as doxa and in Latin as gloria, both of which carry the connotation of luminosity, but the basic sense of the Hebrew word is heaviness, gravitas.

And this kabod Yahweh was to be found in the Jerusalem Temple, resting upon the mercy seat within the Holy of Holies. Therefore, what was heaviest (most glorious) of all was the mercy of God, which abided in infinite, inexhaustible abundance in the Holy Temple.

In light of these clarifications, we can read Jesus’ parable with fresh eyes. The talents given to the three servants are not so much monetary gifts or personal capacities; they are a share in the mercy of God, a participation in the weightiness of the divine love. But since mercy is always directed to the other, these “talents” are designed to be shared. In point of fact, they will increase precisely in the measure that they are given away. The problem with the timid servant who buried his talent is not that he was an ineffective venture capitalist but that he fundamentally misunderstood the nature of what he had been given. The divine mercy—received as a pure gift—is meant to be given to others as a pure gift. Buried in the ground, that is to say, hugged tightly to oneself as one’s own possession, such a talent necessarily evanesces. And this is why the master’s seemingly harsh words should not be read as the punishment of an angry God but as an expression of spiritual physics: the divine mercy will grow in you only inasmuch as you give it to others. To “have” the kabod Yahweh is precisely not to have it in the ordinary sense of the term.

What comes to mind here is the most famous of all of Jesus’ parables, namely, the story of the Prodigal Son. Using a term that also carried a monetary sense in ancient times, the younger son says, “Father give me my share of the ousia (substance or wealth) that is coming to me.” Notice how in one sentence, he manages to mention himself three times! The father gives away his ousia, for that is all he knows how to do, but the foolish son squanders the money in short order. The spiritual lesson is the same: the divine ousia is a gift and it can be “had” only inasmuch as it becomes a gift for others. When we try to cling to it as a possession, it disappears.

How wonderful that these ancient stories, once we unpack their spiritual significance, still sing to us today. —Bishop Robert Barron

THANKSGIVING DAY MASS will be on Thursday, November 23 at 9:00am. On this day dedicated to giving thanks, let us never forget to give thanks to One who created us, redeemed us, and constantly loves us. Happy Thanksgiving!

NO 8:15AM MASS ON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24 & NO CONFESSIONS THIS WEEK.

FATHER PARK WILL BE OUT OF TOWN THIS WEEK: As many of you know, I am part of a fraternity of priests in this Archdiocese called the Companions of Christ. Every year the Companions have a conference together as part of our ongoing priestly formation. Usually we have this conference at a retreat center in South Dakota during the first week of August. However, because this year is the Twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Companions of Christ we decided to do something special for our annual conference. So, this evening (Sunday, November 19) my brother priests and I will be flying to Italy where we will have our annual conference in the beautiful town of Assisi. We will return next Sunday, November 26. Please pray for us on our trip, and know that I will be praying for you all!

Dear Lord, We pray that the Blessed Mother wrap her mantle around your priests, and through her intercession strengthen them for their ministry. We pray that Mary will guide your priests to follow her own words, "Do whatever He tells you" (Jn 2:5). May your priests have the heart of St. Joseph, Mary's most chaste spouse. May the Blessed Mother's own pierced heart inspire them to embrace all who suffer at the foot of the cross. May your priests be holy, filled with the fire of your love, seeking nothing but your greater glory and the salvation of souls. Amen.

The Meal Train Ministry is comprised of a group of people who make and deliver meals to the home of a person or family during their time of need. An online collaboration site is used to organize the meal calendar and preferences around what works for the person or family receiving the meals. Let us know if you have a short-term need (due to a birth, surgery, illness, etc.) to receive meals delivered to your home, or that you know someone who does, or if you would like to become a part of the group who provides meals, please contact Nancy Hedlund at 651.216.3852 or email: nancy.hedlund@biworldwide.com. Questions? Contact Ashleigh Varley X256.

Annunciation Partners in Prayer: If you are interested in praying for those in need OR if you have a prayer intention, please send an email to Pat Katagiri, patricia@kikuenterprises.com. She will email any new prayer requests to the prayer team in the evening of the day she receives them. Commit to saying a prayer for those in need either when you receive the email or during your daily prayer time.

If you would prefer to receive prayer requests by phone, or you have a prayer request and do not have email, or you are not already on the telephone prayer chain and want to join, you may call Mary LaFontaine at 612.827.4256, between 8:30am and 10:00am, Monday through Friday, or Sophie Prince at 612.866.5287, between 5:30pm and 6:30pm.

Father, you call each one of us by name and ask us to follow you. Bless your Church by raising up dedicated and generous leaders from our families and friends who will serve your people as Sisters, Priests, Brothers, Deacons, and Lay Ministers. Inspire us as we grow to know you, and open our hearts to hear your call. We ask this in Jesus' name. Amen.

Thank you for supporting mothers and their babies.

"It's All Around Us, It's in Every Community..." This is what Terry Forliti has to say about how close sex trafficking really is to us. Terry is the executive director of Breaking Free, an organization that provides help for those in our Metro area who have escaped the entrapment of sex trafficking. Over the last 19 years, Breaking Free has served over 7,000 clients and has reached out to over 22,000 individuals through street outreach efforts. It is unfortunate that wonderful events such as the Super Bowl also happen to be accompanied by an increase in the sale of human persons through trafficking operations. For this reason Breaking Free, with the support of religious communities of Sisters and many Metro-area churches, plans to step up its outreach efforts, especially during the ten days leading up to the Super Bowl. As shelters are being set up for those expected to be rescued, let us be generous in supporting these efforts with our donations of grocery gift cards, gas cards, and the cash needed to finance these shelter and rescue operations. On Tuesday, November 21, please join those gathered at St Peter's (Richfield), from 7:00pm to 8:30pm, for Terry Forliti's presentation entitled "The Dynamics of Sex Trafficking in 2017." This event is free and your free-will offering of gift cards and cash for outreach efforts will be most welcome. Donations can also be placed in the Annunciation collection or dropped off at the church or school offices in an envelope marked Breaking Free.

Give Thanks
PRAISE GOD, FROM WHOM ALL BLESSINGS FLOW

This Thanksgiving, let us remember all the good things, and people, who have come into our lives. We focus on thanking each one who has helped us, and ultimately thank God for the good gifts of this world. Let us pray. God our Father, graciously accept from your humble people a thankful heart and spirit. Everything we have and are able to share with others ultimately comes from your love of your creations. Often we think that everything we have is our own creation. We ask you this day to create in us a spirit of gratitude, that we may always know that all good gifts come from you. We ask this through Christ our brother, in the power of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

WHAT IS ADVENT?

Advent is two-fold: a time of preparation for the coming or arrival of Christmas, celebrating the birth of the Son of God. The word comes from the Latin term used in a secular context to denote the coming or arrival of the emperor. The four weeks of Advent inaugurates the entire liturgical year. Advent is a time of devout and joyful expectation, a time to reflect on the gift of the Son of God.

WHAT IS AN ADVENT WREATH?

The Advent Wreath is part of our long-standing Catholic tradition. The lighting of the four candles during the four weeks of Advent reminds us of the coming of the great feast of Christmas. The rose candle is lit on the third Sunday, or Gaudete Sunday, when the priest also wears rose vestments at Mass. Gaudete Sunday is a Sunday of rejoicing, because the faithful have arrived at the midpoint of Advent, when their preparation is now half over and they are close to Christmas. Register Online.

LIVE THE LITURGY—INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK: Every one of God's children is a unique creation with talents and gifts that are found in no one else. Each of us is asked to bring our special "twist" to life and to living the Gospel, leaving our impact on the world in a way that no one else can. Are we ever afraid to use our gifts or to be who we are? Fear can cripple us and prevent us from discovering the profound and creative ways in which we can become the person God meant us to be. We like our comfort zones and do not like to be stretched and challenged. Yet this is necessary if we are going to produce the fruit we are capable of producing and live the radical message of the Gospel. For serious Christians, the status quo has got to go!
