From Father Mike

Today we hear it noted that "all the princes of Judah, the priests, and the people added infidelity to infidelity,...polluting the LORD's temple..." This biblical image of pollution reminds us that our sin not only dirties up our own life but affects those around us. Just as no one can contain water pollution to a single river or air pollution to small space, neither can we control how much our participation with evil can spread into the environment of our family, work places, schools, and greater community. The image of pollution is also useful in reminding us that even small sins can accumulate over time and especially occlude our souls from fully living in the freedom of the Holy Spirit and God's love. Thankfully we have the perfect solution for removing pollution from our lives in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. As we prepare to have our Lenten Reconciliation Service this Tuesday, I have included an Examination of Conscience with this week's bulletin to help you prepare for celebrating this encounter with Jesus and his desire to forgive us. Let us remember that joy is not something we have to wait to experience at Easter but anytime we know the liberation from the pollution of sin.

Del Padre Miguel

La Biblia usa la imagen de la contaminación para recordarnos que nuestro pecado no solo ensucia nuestra propia vida sino que también afecta a quienes nos rodean. Así como nadie puede contener la contaminación del agua en un solo río o la contaminación del aire en espacios pequeños, tampoco podemos controlar cuánto puede propagarse nuestra participación con mal al medio ambiente de nuestra familia, lugares de trabajo, escuelas y una comunidad más grande. La imagen de la contaminación también es útil para recordarnos que incluso los pecados pequeños pueden acumularse con el tiempo y especialmente obstruir nuestras almas para no vivir plenamente en la libertad del Espíritu Santo y el amor de Dios. Afortunadamente, tenemos la solución perfecta para eliminar la contaminación de nuestras vidas en el Sacramento de la Reconciliación. Mientras nos preparamos para tener nuestro Servicio de Reconciliación Cuaresmal este martes, he incluido un Examen de Conciencia con el boletín de esta semana para ayudarlos a prepararse para celebrar este encuentro con Jesús y su deseo de perdonarnos. Recordemos que la alegría no es algo que tenemos que esperar para experimentar en la Pascua, sino cada vez que conocemos la liberación de la contaminación del pecado.
