From the Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

Recently, a photo was released by NASA that depicted the Earth and our Moon as seen from Mars. It showed them both in the same frame, with the proper ratio of distance between them. It was a very long and wide photo, with a small blue "marble" on one side, and an even tinier light-grey orb on the other. From all of my recollections of the Apollo Moon missions (and multiple viewings of Apollo 13 fresh in my mind) it was amazing to see, in true scale, what the 238,900 mile trek was like. With talk of future missions to Mars and beyond, our scientific developments and technological progress bring new meanings to Isaiah's words, "I will make you a light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth." (Is 49:6) Perhaps someday the Church will be setting up missionary outposts on other worlds?!

It does give us pause, however, to consider what lengths we might go in sharing the Gospel message ourselves. Unless things advance far quicker than anyone might imagine, most of us will never have the chance to travel into space and walk on other worlds. But we are called to share the gift of salvation in the here and now, and to take it to the ends of our own "worlds," however they might be defined. For St. Paul, he was impassioned to reach the center of the Roman Empire that he might be missioned by the Roman Church to bring the Gospel to the outskirts of the empire—to Spain and the Iberian Peninsula—the edge of the empire and the known world at the time. God would use this zeal for sharing the Word in a different way, of course, but that is part of surrendering ourselves to God's Will and being docile to the movements of the Holy Spirit. Sometimes God will have us earnestly go one direction with all of our effort, only to cause us to ricochet off into another. It may make no sense to us, but in God's mind, it is a perfectly straight line towards a clear goal that only God can see.

Baptism, a reception of the Holy Spirit and our willingness to embrace a disciple's heart mean a radical openness to what God has in store for us. And this may be in sharp contrast to what "our" plans are at any given moment. While God certainly works through our dreams and longings, God's ways are not limited to our human understanding of them. It may appear to us to be the worst sort of spiritual zig-zagging at times, but a careful attention to prayer and a regular discernment of how God is present and working in our lives will reveal something more meaningful and filled with mystery.

So, where are the outer limits of our world these days? The old joke about a Bostonian's view of the world is that the old Route 128 was the frontier, with only wilderness, California and the Pacific Ocean that lay beyond. Maybe in a slightly less hyperbolic way, we view our place in this realm with a similar distortion? Recently I was invited to a mixed gathering of priests in a parish not too far away in New Hampshire. Because it is a different diocese, I rarely have a chance to meet or get to know any of the priests in the Manchester Diocese. As it turns out, many of them were serving only 10 or 15 miles away from our Collaborative. Who knew? Their stories of ministry as well as the joys and challenges they face were amazingly similar to my own. There were a number of Boston priests present, so it was nice to see a few familiar faces. And then there was one guy from Providence. I have to admit, out of all of the New England states, I never even think of Rhode Island. I live and serve here in Massachusetts. I frequently travel to New Hampshire. Maine and Vermont are occasional destinations. And my home state of Connecticut is where I often go to visit family and friends. But Rhode Island? That is out there, beyond 128, beyond 495 on the frontier....

Do we do this spiritually? Are there those whom we regularly, comfortably, encounter? And then, are there those we just never speak to, never engage, never even think of? There was a bit of a ruckus caused at one point during the presidential campaign this fall when in an interview one of the candidates didn't know where Aleppo was or why it was a cause for concern. Our world is so big and the news reports can seem like a blizzard of information, even on a slow day. How can anyone know it all? How can any one of us really see a personal connection to such distant and foreign places? How do we care? And how might we even begin to live out a baptismal call to share the Good News in these far away places?

Here are a couple of suggestions: First, let's be conscious of the edges of our worlds—where we usually live our lives and the extent of our relationships. For many of us, this certainly encompasses multiple dozens, if not, hundreds of people: family, friends, coworkers, neighbors, parishioners and occasional acquaintances. It can be breathtaking how many people we know and bump into on a regular basis. Starting here, resolve to reverence these people; in other words, to treat them as if they were Christ. This opens us to the gift of God's loving presence that is right in front of us, that surrounds us all the time. In many ways, this is full-time work! We can draw tremendous strength and encouragement from this precious gift. It is why the Lord calls us to come together in community for worship and to be sent out in mission and ministry. Then, secondly, find a way to go to the frontier—go out of our comfort zones, even just a little, and expand our world to include people, places, needs, and cultures that are beyond our own.

Several years ago, I travelled to Haiti to see the Fr. Marc Piché School dedicated in Puit ChaCha. What a mind-expanding and eye-opening experience that was! It was also testimony to one way that many parishioners had followed their baptismal call to bring the Gospel to the ends of the Earth, where they built a school and provide a daily meal to its students and so give an excruciatingly poor village the gift of hope. The ends of the Earth got a little further away.

Many parishioners who work closely with our St. Vincent de Paul Societies also know how to push back the boundaries of poverty and need. Confidentially, they work closely with our brothers and sisters who may be geographically close but struggle with “making ends meet” and providing for their families. A whole kaleidoscope of reasons may lie behind their clients' struggles, but the love, mercy and compassion that Society members provide are a universal balm and flow from their own response to their baptismal call to holiness and service.

This past week, the Archdiocesan newspaper, The Pilot, featured a brief article highlighting the work of those involved with The Pelican Intervention Fund, which was started by several Newburyport parishioners to help support those in long-term addiction recovery programs. Again, pushing beyond the limits of our frustrations in dealing with what can seem like an impossible disease and giving hope for recovery and new life.

Last weekend, in the midst of the snowstorm, I received an email from a parishioner who was looking for a way to connect a group of school parents and families with Holy Redeemer's sandwich program that helps feed the hungry at a Lawrence shelter. And here again, the boundaries get pushed back, our world gets a little smaller (or larger as the case may be) and the Gospel gets spread a little further.

In our common baptism, God has been working through the hearts of believers for millennia. How will God work through us today? How will we respond when God calls?

Winter Blessings,

Fr. Tim Harrison, Pastor

Winter Weather Mass Cancellations

Due to the hazards of travel and the safety of priests and parishioners alike, this winter, daily Mass within the Collaborative will be cancelled if either Pentucket Regional or Newburyport Public schools are cancelled because of inclement weather. Any Religious Education classes will also be cancelled on such days. WBZ Channel 4 will have the updated school cancellation information. It is also available on their website at boston.cbslocal.com.

In severe situations, it may also be necessary for safety reasons to cancel weekend Masses. Please watch WBZ or consult their website for cancellation information.

Thank you for your patience and understanding. In all things, God gave us the gifts of wisdom, reason, and prudence. Let's use them wisely this winter and exercise sound judgment when considering going out in severe weather.

Questions of the Week

Adult: If you were asked to do so, how would you explain Jesus to someone who had never heard of Him?

Child: If you were going to tell someone the most important thing that you know about Jesus, what would you say?

Fr. Broderick's Scripture Study

Scripture Study will meet on January 22, 2017

Father Broderick's Scripture Study will not meet on its regular third Sunday in January but will meet on the fourth Sunday, January 22 at 2:00pm in the IC Parish Center. This would be an ideal time for interested members of the Collaborative to join the study group as we will begin the New Year by reading and discussing The Gospel According to Matthew, Chapters 1–4. Matthew wrote from a Jewish perspective for a predominantly Jewish audience that also included some Gentiles, probably in Antioch, Syria around 85 A.D.

Our beloved teacher, Father Broderick, not only explains the meaning of the Scripture passages, but also presents rich description of the period and places cited, as well as the culture and practices of the people involved. He connects the events in the New Testament to Old Testament prophecies and events, as well as to our own time. This is a worthwhile way to spend an hour and fifteen minutes on a Sunday afternoon. All are invited to attend these sessions and grow in knowledge and faith.

Youth Masses

Our next Youth Mass is Sunday, January 22 at 5:00pm at Nativity Church, 4 Green Street, Merrimac. Our offertory collection is canned goods for Our Neighbors' Table, trial size toiletries, or gift cards to Market Basket for Merrimack Valley Hope Mission, and of course your weekly offering to our parishes. All ages welcome. Refreshments will be served in the hall after Mass. Our speaker, Kim Keene from the Pelican Intervention Fund, will be there to answer any questions.

This weekend we will begin selling Mardi Gras dinner tickets to benefit the Pelican Intervention Fund. $12/adult and $5/child. Ages 5 and under are free.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION PARISH

Offertory Collection

Offertory, January 7–8      $8,768.00
 Monthly      $1,568.00

Today's second collection is for Assistance to Urban Parishes. Assistance is needed at parishes experiencing financial hardship and who struggle to sustain their mission and meet their financial obligations. Your support is needed to maintain a Catholic presence in areas where the economic realities of the parishioner base cannot fully support the expenses of a parish. This collection will help bridge the funding gap. We all share responsibility to proclaim God's Good News of Jesus Christ with all the people of the Archdiocese of Boston regardless of the parish's ability to pay. Your generous response will help sustain the vital work that occurs each day in these parishes.

Immaculate Conception School

Greetings Friends,

2017 is the 135th anniversary of the Immaculate Conception School (IC). Although the world we all live in has changed dramatically over the years, the vision of the IC has remained the same...one that sees our graduates making a positive, faith-based contribution to society. Today, the IC continues this powerful tradition by serving our students' spiritual, academic, and social needs. We accomplish this with an experienced, devoted faculty and a faith-based school culture, which is safe, nurturing, and empowering.

Practicing faith-based living is central to the IC School learning experience. Jesus Christ, in his words and deeds, serves as the model for IC students of a loving, values-driven life. Students participate in school-wide morning meetings featuring devotion and prayer, monthly liturgies, classes in religion, and Christian service to the community.

IC is a high-performing school, where academic excellence is in the school's heritage, built upon the belief that each child is endowed with natural intelligence, curiosity and a yearning to learn and discover. Students score well above the national average on standardized tests. Core subjects offer each child intellectual challenges, mental stimulation, and the preparation needed for secondary school. Our graduates go on to flourish in some of the finest Catholic, private, and public schools in the region, including St. John's Prep, Central Catholic, St. Thomas Aquinas, Bishop Fenwick, The Governor's Academy, Phillips Exeter Academy, and Newburyport High School. Most of our graduates go on to study at and graduate from some of the most highly regarded colleges in the nation.

Students at the IC can choose from an array of after school sports and activities, including cross-country running, basketball, and the ski and snowboard program (let's hope for more snow). "Journey" enrichment programs are a great way for students to learn new skills or just have fun. This past fall students participated in Yoga, Legomania, and Lego Robotics. Many students also enjoy participating in band, choir, and theater.

The IC School educates well-rounded boys and girls who go on to serve as role models, influencing our world through goodness and love in their words and deeds. In 2017, the IC's 135th anniversary, we are proudly celebrating this legacy. The faith-based education at the IC continues to instill the values that define our graduates, including respect, compassion, forgiveness, tolerance, and love. Immaculate Conception School graduates go forward in their lives creating a better world, one person at a time.

Sincerely, Mary Reardon, Principal

IC Religious Education

Amoris Laetitia...Pope Francis

Pope Francis released the Exhortation on the Family. In the weeks to come, you will be introduced to various statements from the Holy Father.

The Sacrament of Matrimony—In #73—“Mutual self-giving is grounded in the grace of baptism, which establishes the foundational covenant of every person with Christ in the Church. In accepting each other, and with Christ's grace, the engaged couple promise each other total self-giving, faithfulness and openness to new life. The couple recognizes these elements as constitutive of marriage, gifts offered to them by God, and take seriously their mutual commitment, in God's name and in the presence of the Church. Faith thus makes it possible for them to assume the goods of marriage as a commitment that can be better kept through the help of the grace of the sacrament... Consequently, the Church looks to married couples as the heart of the entire family, which, in turn, looks to Jesus.” The sacrament is not a ‘thing’ or a ‘power,’ for in it Christ himself “now encounters Christian spouses.... He dwells with them, gives them the strength to take up their crosses and go follow him, to rise again after they have fallen, to forgive one another, to bear one another's burdens. Christian marriage is a sign of how much Christ loved his Church in the covenant sealed on the cross, yet it also makes that love present in the communion of the spouses. By becoming one flesh, they embody the espousal of our human nature by the Son of God. That is why “in the joys of their love and family life, he gives them here on earth a foretaste of the wedding feast of the Lamb.” Even though the analogy between the human couple of husband and wife, and that of Christ and his Church, is “imperfect,” it inspires us to beg the Lord to bestow on every married couple an outpouring of his divine love.

HOLY REDEEMER PARISH

Offertory Collection

Offertory, 12-31, 1-1	$3,991.00
Monthly	$1,532.00
Offertory, 1-8	$2,335.00
Catholic Charities	$ 727.00

Today's second collection is for Assistance to Urban Parishes. Assistance is needed at parishes experiencing financial hardship and who struggle to sustain their mission and meet their financial obligations. Your support is needed to maintain a Catholic presence in areas where the economic realities of the parishioner base cannot fully support the expenses of a parish. This collection will help bridge the funding gap. We all share responsibility to proclaim God's Good News of Jesus Christ with all the people of the Archdiocese of Boston regardless of the parish's ability to pay. Your generous response will help sustain the vital work that occurs each day in these parishes.
