From the Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

This past month, as I have often done on vacation, I had an opportunity to spend some time on the beach with friends. While enjoying the sand, surf, and beautiful weather, in years past I also have tried my hand at some kite flying. As an adult, I realized quickly that this entailed a little more skill and equipment than the plastic-and-string variety I had once dabbled with as a kid. Kite flying can be serious business! One could spend hundreds or even thousands to get the right rig aloft. I opted for a more modest approach, but it did entail hundreds of feet of special synthetic string, a proper reel, the actual carbon-fiber-backed kite itself and the all-so-necessary tail for stability. My years of experience also taught me that unless I wanted to just stand there with the reel in hand the entire flight time, a sturdy anchor in the sand was also a must so that I could do other things, like go swimming while admiring my soaring handiwork from a distance.

My anchor

The beach where I have usually flown my kites in the past has almost always enjoyed a very steady breeze. It is perfect for launching and maintaining a kite many hundreds of feet in the sky. As I unpacked my equipment and rigged it for flight, the air was filled with a constant wind. I set my anchor (the bottom half of a screw-in umbrella stand), attached the 20-foot tail and up it went! I quickly unreeled 50, then 100, then 150 feet of line, my hand burning from the friction. Ahhh! My kite was glistening in the sun, gently bobbing in the humid air aloft, as beautiful as it ever had been.

All was right with the world.

I secured the reel to the anchor and was just about to set my mind to the water for a swim when disaster struck! No sooner had I turned my back on my handiwork, when, somehow, it detached. And then, in what seemed like a matter of seconds, my kite was a quarter mile out to sea, sputtering from the sky to its inevitable, watery grave. I'm still not sure what exactly what went wrong. Somehow the carabiner (I told you this was serious business!) that was supposed to hold back the reel had let go. I was left standing there like a fool, helpless and dumbstruck. Farewell my fluttering, colorful, nylon friend....

But even in the midst of life's little tragedies (and this certainly was tiny compared to anything else), without warning a little girl from a nearby blanket came over and said, "Mister, I'm sorry about your kite. It was really pretty." And then, all of a sudden, she was gone, back to her own little world of building sand castles and dodging incoming waves. I guess I had seen her and her family when I got down to the beach some time earlier, but hadn't paid her much attention. She was just part of the typical background of any summer beach scene: blankets, umbrellas, towels, sun-bathers, sand castles, people on beach chairs, an occasional surf-casting fisherman and many dozens of young children at play. What I didn't expect was the depth of her compassion!

Breaking through the ever-rigorous standard of "don't talk to strangers," she so honestly and directly wanted to console me as she empathized, just for the briefest second, with my "loss." She, too, had enjoyed the kite's brief aerial beauty. She must have thought for a moment how she would have felt, had it been her kite that was condemned to an unwelcome burial-at-sea. So, in her humanness, she broke free of social norms and wiggled from the watchful eyes of her parents for the briefest moment to offer her condolences.

I'm still amazed at how genuine her words were. I wonder how many of us are able to be as human to one another in our daily lives? Can we offer the unencumbered compassion that this child showed? Can we empathize with the small and occasionally substantial losses we all suffer from time to time? Can our words of care and concern really help heal the many insults that life sometimes throws at us? Can we find a way to break through the social norms and awkwardness of expectations to connect in the most innocent and human of ways?

Our Gospel this weekend offers us one of the most beloved parables of all time, the story of the Prodigal Son. In it we see the amazing depth of the father's love that cut across even the deepest chasms of sin and shame and offered the healing balm of forgiveness, not only for the wayward son, but also for the village and community which he abandoned. The closing scene leaves us with that same father pleading with his older son to return and make their home whole once again. We don't know how it ends. It is left unresolved, I think, because this is where we come in. This is where we must find a way to overcome our own pride, our hatred, our narrow mindedness, our self-centered absorption and discover a way to connect, to engage in the amazing love that is offered to us in Christ, who is the perfect expression of the Father.

Maybe we struggle to make that connection from time to time. But I have confidence that this love of God is more robust than the greatest of our failures. If a little girl on a distant beach can embody even the tiniest shred of it, imagine what we can do if we really work at it?

May the love of God embrace us all as we move forward into these fall months.

COLLABORATIVE NEWS

Fr. Broderick's Scripture Study

Scripture Study Will Meet on September 11, 2016
Note change in September schedule

Father Broderick's Scripture Study will meet on the second Sunday of the month, September 11, 2016, in the Parish Center at 2:00pm and will return to its regular third Sunday of the month on September 18th. For September 11 we will continue reading the second section of The Book of Isaiah, The Book of Consolation, Chapters 47 through 51. The Book of Consolation is generally attributed to an anonymous poet who prophesied toward the end of the Babylonian exile and contains the great messianic oracles known as the Suffering Servant songs. Chapter 48 will mark the conclusion of Part 1 of this section: The Lord's Glory in Israel's Liberation. Chapters 49 through 55 are entitled: The Expiation of Sin, Spiritual Liberation of Israel.

Our beloved teacher, Father Broderick, not only explains the meaning of the Scripture passages, but also presents rich description of the period and places cited, as well as the culture and practices of the people involved. He connects the events in the New Testament to Old Testament prophecies and events, as well as to our own time. This is a worthwhile way to spend an hour and fifteen minutes on a Sunday afternoon. All are invited to attend these sessions and grow in knowledge and faith.

Cursillo

A new season of Cursillo is upon us and we are looking forward to another year of community. Cursillo is an invitation for you to experience the love of Jesus Christ on a personal level and to bring this love and joy into your daily life.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION PARISH

IC Choir

Labor Day marks the beginning of choir. We start rehearsals the first Wednesday after Labor Day. I look forward to seeing all of you in the choir loft Wednesdays at 7:00pm to gather and renew. It is always my intent to start rehearsal at 7:15pm and be done no later than 8:45pm.

We have new people who have expressed an interest in joining our Adult Choir so you will be seeing new faces. We are looking for new members to join us, especially Basses and Tenors. We look forward to welcoming you all into our choir family. Thank you to all Adult Choir members who generously share their musical gifts and time with our parish. The music they work so diligently to perfect, sung at Mass with such heart and passion, enhances our liturgies beyond just what we hear. I've been told countless times that we bring the angels to church when we sing, that people feel the presence of the Lord more fully and that so often we bring tears of joy to their eyes. Hearing that makes all our hard work worth it. That's positive reinforcement!

Let me know via email or text if you would like to attend rehearsal. I promise you a fun evening of great music, wonderful new friends, and an abundance of God's blessings. Donna Postle, IC Director of Music Ministry (978) 317-8903 - Cell, donnapostle233@gmail.com - Email

Catechetical Sunday

Catechetical Sunday 2016 will be celebrated Sunday, September 18, 2016.

Those whom the community has designated to serve as catechists will be called forth to be commissioned for their ministry. Catechetical Sunday is an opportunity to reflect on the role that each person plays, by virtue of Baptism, in handing on the faith and being a witness to the Gospel. Catechetical Sunday is an opportunity for all to rededicate themselves to this mission as a community of faith. This year's theme is Prayer: The Faith Prayed.

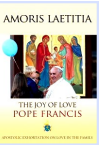

Consolers Circle Meal

The IC community is pleased to offer a light meal to families who have lost a loved one. The meal is provided by volunteers and is held in St. Louis Hall following the funeral Mass. Our hall holds up to 75 people, and there is no charge for this service. Donations are accepted if you wish to do that. Please let the funeral director know that you request this service when making arrangements.

IC Religious Education

Amoris Laetitia...Pope Francis

Pope Francis released the Exhortation on the Family. In #46: "Migration is particularly dramatic and devastating to families and individuals when it takes place illegally and is supported by international networks of human trafficking. This is equally true when it involves women and unaccompanied children who are forced to endure long periods of time in temporary facilities and refugee camps, when it is impossible to start a process of integration....The persecution of Christian and ethnic and religious minorities in many parts of the world, especially in the Middle East, are a great trial not only for the Church but also the entire international community. Every effort should be encouraged, even in a practical way, to assist families and Christian communities to remain in their native lands."

Fr. Larry Richard: Generous Mercy

"He who has a bountiful eye will be blessed, for he shares his bread with the poor" (Pro 22: 9).

Feed the Hungry

We must feed the hungry or be damned.... The very core of Christianity is not the focus on self but on the forgetfulness of self and the focus on others. Jesus tells us: "This is how all people will know that you are my disciples, that you love one another" (Jn 13: 25). To feed the hungry is not an option for the Christians. We must take care of others if we hope to get to heaven. What will you do on Judgment Day when you stand before God and he asks you: Why in your lifetime did an average of twenty thousand children in the world die every day because of hunger-related causes? Will you say, "I am not sure, God, but they were not my kids," to which he will respond, "No, they were mine"? The point is that we need to make sure we live what we believe and that we prepare ourselves for the final judgment. We should not do any of this out of fear or guilt, but out of mercy and love! Become a Hospice Volunteer

"The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others." ~Mahatma Gandhi

All Care Hospice is currently seeking compassionate, caring people to offer comfort and support to our patients and families. As part of the care team, volunteers serve a vital role in affecting the quality of our patients' lives. Each volunteer opportunity is unique and varies depending on the needs of the patient and family as well as the volunteer's availability and interests. Patient care may include providing companionship through conversation, reading aloud, reminiscing, or even just holding their hand. Other duties help alleviate stress for the caregiver such as running errands like grocery shopping and trips to the pharmacy, light housekeeping or meal preparation. Administrative tasks involve assembling admission packets, assisting with mailings, photocopying, and special event preparation. All Care Hospice serves the North Shore, Merrimack Valley, and Greater Boston.

For more information or to enroll in a training, contact our Volunteer Coordinator, Maureen Burge at 781-244-1129.
