For those of you who signed up to take part in the MINISTRY OF CONSOLATION in our three parishes, the booklet CONSOLERS, by Fr. Terrence Curley can tend to be lengthy and repetitive. If you could digest the first three chapters and be ready to discuss/share what you consider to be the salient points, that would be great! We have a meeting scheduled for Friday, August 16, from 7-8:30 at Christ the King lower Church hall. If you know of someone who would like to be part of this prayerful Ministry, please have them contact Sr. Alice at 508-586-1575 and leave a message.

Become a Volunteer Tutor!

No matter your profession, you can make a difference in the life of a student who has been impacted by homelessness in Brockton, Stoughton, Norwell, or New Bedford. During our mandatory two-part training sessions, we will prepare you for an amazing one-on-one tutoring experience with a student in K-12. You will meet with the same student each week to help reinforce grade level learning skills, work on school projects, and help boost his or her self-esteem. You will serve as a mentor and positive adult role model for the student, and help them realize their full potential. Two part training sessions will be held Aug 21-Sept 28. Wanted: A few parents to attend the Mission Education Day with Cardinal Sean. This is a day sponsored by the Missionary Childhood Association, formerly the Holy Childhood Association. It is the Church's official Missionary Membership Association for children in grades K-8. You and your child(ren) will have a chance to learn more about the vital missionary work of the Church and be able to bring back what you learned, with the help of your parish's Coordinator, to your parish Religious Education Program. There will be workshops throughout the day as well as a special Commissioning Mass with Cardinal Sean. Please call Marcia Hoyle Walkama at 508-587-3257 or mhwalkama@aol.com

Reminder that there is a discount if you register by August 15th.

If you know anyone with a child entering 1st grade please pass along the information about registering so they may take advantage of the early registration discount. Registration Forms are available at: <http://www.ourladyoflourdes-brockton.com/forms.html>

WHY CATHOLIC?

COMING THIS FALL! an opportunity to join a small faith-sharing group. So, what is a faith-sharing group?...a group of 7-10 people, who gather once a week for 6 weeks to read Scripture, pray and share with each other in a supportive way. It is a way of forming and deepening community relationships as well as growing in our faith. Don't miss out!

PLEASE NOTE: ALL ACTIVITIES SCHEDULED IN THE LOWER CHURCH HALL AT OUR LADY OF LOURDES HAVE BEEN CANCELED UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE. Thank you.

Archdiocesan policy on sacrament preparation requires children and youth from both Catholic Schools and parish Religious Education programs to come together at their home parish for immediate preparation for each sacrament. Immediate preparation focuses directly on the sacrament and does not duplicate the religious education provided at Catholic Schools.

We encourage all First Grade parents of children attending Catholic School to contact the Coordinator at their respective home parish to register for the upcoming sacramental year

All Catholic High School students seeking Confirmation must complete our two-year confirmation program, usually in grades 9 and 10. The Catholic High School curriculum does not include confirmation

Tri-Parish Education News

18th Sunday in Ordinary Time

In our parish school, the Parent-Teacher Organization heard a presentation on helping kids be less materialistic. Before they purchased something new, have kids donate toys, clothes or other items they no longer needed to Goodwill or someone in need. By sharing things that were still useful, kids saw the good they could do and avoided cluttering their rooms with stuff they did not need or use. More surprisingly, some parents said that their kids realized how fortunate they were and it seemed to make them less demanding and less interested in getting more things. Sounds like a lesson in Christian charity, poverty and gratitude all in one!

A wise man once said that we never really own our possessions; they own us! We spend so much time and energy acquiring things, taking care of them, protecting them and replacing them that you have to wonder if it is worth it. What is the real cost of owning stuff and is it worth the price? A video game in a child's room might cost a few hundred dollars. But what about the lack of conversation or spending time with the family—what does that cost? If what I own takes me away from the most important things in my life, don't I pay a price that is too great? Life is not just about quantity, it's also about quality. Don't sacrifice more than you must. Leave enough space and time for the valuable things you cannot see—or buy.

The Fool's Vanity

Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time (Cycle C)

Trust in God - as the Rock of our salvation, as the Lord who made us His chosen people, as our shepherd and guide. This should be the mark of our following of Jesus.

Like the Israelites we recall in this week's Psalm, we have made an exodus, passing through the waters of Baptism, freeing us from our bondage to sin. We too are on a pilgrimage to a promised homeland, the Lord in our midst, feeding us heavenly bread, giving us living waters to drink (see 1 Corinthians 10:1-4).

We must take care to guard against the folly that befell the Israelites, that led them to quarrel and test God's goodness at Meribah and Massah.

We can harden our hearts in ways more subtle but no less ruinous. We can put our trust in possessions, squabble over earthly inheritances, kid ourselves that what we have we deserve, store up treasures and think they'll afford us security, rest.

All this is "vanity of vanities," a false and deadly way of living, as this week's First Reading tells us.

This is the greed that Jesus warns against in this week's Gospel. The rich man's anxiety and toil expose his lack of faith in God's care and provision. That's why Paul calls greed "idolatry" in the Epistle this week. Mistaking having for being, possession for existence, we forget that God is the giver of all that we have, we exalt the things we can make or buy over our Maker (see Romans 1:25).

Jesus calls the rich man a "fool" - a word used in the Old Testament for someone who rebels against God or has forgotten Him (see Psalm 14:1). We should treasure most the new life we have been given in Christ and seek what is above, the promised inheritance of heaven.

We have to see all things in the light of eternity, mindful that He who gives us the breath of life could at any moment - this night even - demand it back from us.

From Fr. Carlos

As humans, we're social creatures. We're born into a family and throughout the course of our lives we seek out other groups that share common interests. Each of these connections requires a certain degree of commitment from us, and in return they also provide us with a degree of our identity and worth.

Our religious connection should be one of the most important sources of identity in our life, because it reminds us of the greatness with which we've been made and it points out the path our life should take. The word "religion" has its origin in the Latin word, "religare" which means "to bind together." Thus religion connects us in our relationships with God and with each other. However, we often relegate the role of our religion to a lesser category of importance. We may meet our religious "obligations," but how willing are we to allow our religion to truly influence and transform our lives? Many of us would be comfortable if our religion were nothing other than a warm and comfortable justification for what we want to do in our lives. A number of religions, some of them still clinging to the label of "Christian," have evolved in this manner as associations that provide community and identity, but which don't challenge their members overly much.

It's tempting to desire a religion like this; we often give in to the temptation to edit the call of Christianity to better fit with who we already are. We try to tame the message of the Gospels, bring it down, to ignore the more challenging parts, and to make Jesus' teachings fit more easily with our daily life. However, that is precisely the opposite of what Jesus calls us to do. We've been reminded in past weeks of just how radical our religion is. We follow in the footsteps of Jesus. In His preaching and in His life He healed, comforted, and consoled many people. At the same time, He made it equally clear that though He came for all His invitation would not be one that would be universally accepted. Jesus came with a message of riches, of prosperity and wellbeing, but contrary to the many "Prosperity Gospel" preachers out there, the riches Jesus spoke of have little to do with the categories of wealth and power in this world.

Wealth and power are not bad in themselves, if we use them wisely and well. Jesus invites us to make that distinction this week. If we live in such a way that our life is more about achievements and possessions than it is about relationships, then we have begun to store treasure in the wrong barn. On the other hand if we see our possessions and positions in life as things which help us make this world a better place for others and which prepare us for the life of Heaven, then we have found the path for enjoying both the riches of this life and the glories of the life to come. Choose wisely and well, because not all treasure is eternal, but the consequences of our choices certainly are.

The class was having a discussion about what really matters in life and where we find a sense of value and success. As the students grappled with the notion of material wealth and its importance to a sense of accomplishment, one girl recalled a conversation she had with her friend as they browsed through the flea market at the parish summer festival. As they looked at all the items for sale, her friend remarked, "Imagine! All this meant something to someone a long time ago. Now it's all junk!" Jesus tells the parable of the rich man who places his trust in his material wealth. But His disciples must place their hope and treasure, their value and worth in the Lord. It is not worth the effort to focus time, energy and attention on things that will not last, if we lose the chance to build wealth that lasts forever. Material things are important, but not at the cost of our values, morals and ideals. As the popular proverb says, you can't take it with you!

Focus on your spiritual investments and possessions. Make a little time for prayer. Volunteer for service to others. Make it a habit to give to the food bank, or other group in your parish that helps the needy. Use your rosary. Attend Mass on vacation. Don't neglect your spiritual needs and values. It is the only thing you take with you.
