PASTOR'S COMMENT: "The passage from St. Luke's Gospel for this weekend presents Zaccaeus the tax collector to us. As his heart had been opened to Jesus he welcomed Him into his home. His heart was then turned and opened to the poor. His willingness to give to others was his witness to his faith and trust in Christ." — Fr. John

SCRIPTURE: "Give and gifts will be given to you; a good measure, packed together, shaken down, and overflowing, will be poured into your lap. For the measure with which you measure will in return be measured out to you." — Luke 6:38

CHRISTIAN COMMENT: "Never measure your generosity by what you give, but rather by what you have left." — Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Roman Catholic bishop, orator, radio-broadcaster and author

Respect for Life

As political candidates contest for our support, it is vital to remember that "no amount of good social policy, such as programs that feed the hungry and shelter the homeless - as vitally important as they are - can make up for bad policies concerning the protection of life itself. Without the fundamental right to live, the right not to be killed, no other rights are meaningful. In fact, without life no other rights can exist. (Respect Life pamphlet).

If you know of families in need, please have them call 908-756-0633, x112, Monday, Wednesday, Friday between 9:00AM & 11:00AM. The primary source of our ministry's funding is from the Poor Boxes located at all the doors of the Church. Also, at all doors, bins are provided for your donations of non-perishable food items.

THIS IS OUR FAITH

Voting Your Conscience?

Bishop Checchio wrote the following in this week's Catholic Spirit. "In the midst of so much discouraging news about both of our presidential candidates, ... more and more people have asked me about the upcoming elections. "What do we do as neither candidate seems ideal? ... Let me begin by sharing with you what Pope Francis said about our presidential elections... a U.S. reporter asked the Pope what should Catholics do in an election where both candidates hold some positions contrary to Church teachings. The Holy Father answered, "... During an election campaign, I never say a word. The people are sovereign and all I will say is this: study the proposals well, pray, and choose in conscience!"

To help form one's conscience, Bishop Checchio points us to two resources which provide the specifics many Catholics are seeking. First, "the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) has produced a comprehensive two-part summary document, "The Challenge of Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship." www. faithful-citizenship.org. We included the full two-part summary in the October 9 parish bulletin. Part I of the U.S. Catholic Bishops' guidelines focuses on our call as Catholic citizens. It explains what the Church teaches about issues affecting public policy; who should participate in political life, and how Catholic social teaching can help guide our participation.... Part II is a consideration of the process by which these principles are applied to the act of voting and taking positions on policy issues." In answering the question, "How does the Church help the Catholic faithful speak about political and social questions?" The bishops discuss how we should form our conscience, the virtue of prudence, doing good and avoiding evil and making more informed choices."

In his article Bishop James continues, "One section of the summary I think all will find enlightening deals with avoiding two temptations. In the document the bishops write, "Two temptations in public life can distort the Church's defense of human life and dignity: The first is a moral equivalence that makes no ethical distinctions between different kinds of issues involving human life and dignity. The second is the misuse of these necessary moral distinctions as a way of dismissing or ignoring other serious threats to human life and dignity."

"The summary also includes a listing of what public policies should concern Catholics most. In conclusion it reminds us: "The Church is involved in the political process, but is not partisan. The Church cannot champion any candidate or party. Our cause is the defense of human life and dignity and the protection of the weak and vulnerable."

For the second resource, Bishop James "points us to the NJ Catholic Conference website, www. njcatholic.org/issues, This NJ Catholic website contains major sections on respect for life, family life, social concerns and education, each of which contains several specific topics."

Bishop James continues, "While it may seem burdensome to research these issues, it is a very important election and so your vote will be important. I ask you to do exactly what Pope Francis suggested. Study the issues. Each candidate's positions can be found on his or her website. Then prayerfully consider them through the lens of our Church's teachings and your informed conscience."

While this election is disappointing in many ways, the interest our faithful have shown in wanting to do the right thing in this coming election is heartening. May we avail ourselves of the resources which can help us to make the best choice at the ballot box.

CATHOLIC CITIZENSHIP ESSAY CONTEST - Open to all Catholic Students in public, private and parochial schools, grades 8-12 and Sponsored by the South Plainfield Knights of Columbus. This year's essay theme is "The Importance of Religious Freedom." Entry forms & contest rules can be found at church entrances or www.kofcsouthplainfieldnj.com.

In this memoir, set as deeply in his mind as in the Southeast Asian jungle, a young American soldier embarks on a journey to a war that, for him, will never be over.

The world was a playground for Mickey, a naive Irish American kid bored with his life. His father served in World War II, his brother was a Marine in Vietnam; now it was his turn. His 365 days in Vietnam builds in torment until an attack on a bunker complex in Cambodia. Wounded, his friend captured, he becomes a tormented survivor knowing he is always just a heartbeat from death.
