PRAYER TO ST. MICHAEL

Saint Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle.
 Be our protection
 against the wickedness
 and snares of the devil.
 May God rebuke Him,
 we humbly pray;
 and do Thou,
 O Prince of the Heavenly Host -
 by the Divine Power of God -
 cast into hell, satan and all the evil spirits, who roam throughout
 the world seeking the ruin of souls.
 Amen.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK*He showed both His Hands and His side to them.

By: Fr. Bradford
Contra Mundum Volume XVII, Issue 9

The events in the Upper Room on Easter Day night were decisive for the Christian faith. If the Resurrection of Christ happened but was communicated to no one, there would be no Church then or today. And if the followers of Christ had not experienced the fact of the Resurrection there would not have been a gathering at Pentecost and the outpouring of the gifts of the Holy Spirit. Christianity would have been stillborn.

The Upper Room was the scene of two decisive events. The fact of the Resurrection was established, and Christ created the apostolate.

To be accurate, neither Luke or John tell us explicitly that it was the Upper Room where this happened. But there is no reason for us to place the event anywhere else. And it makes sense to conclude that these men were in hiding in a place they all knew. They were perhaps planning to slip out of Jerusalem under cover of darkness, one by one, in order not to be arrested in any follow-up to Christ's crucifixion. The Upper Room events took place at night.

It is true to say that the Resurrection faith was born that morning at the empty tomb. That faith is an inference from the absence of the Lord's Body, and from the peculiar was the grave clothes had collapsed as if Our Lord's Body had escaped from inside the shroud. But inference is like circumstantial evidence. It does not lead to conviction. For religious it is a non-starter. And it certainly does not explain subsequent events.

Take Peter's conduct for instance. Several weeks later he is boldly addressing the whole Jerusalem leadership that "this Jesus whom you crucified is both Lord and Christ." Let the high priest tear his clothes again, twenty times over, if he wishes! That is Peter's attitude. Christ is Risen. Deal with it. Yet this is the same Peter who denied Christ vehemently on Maundy Thursday and who on Easter Day night is huddled behind locked doors plotting his escape from Jerusalem. Clearly it was not from the fact of the empty tomb that Peter and the others were emboldened so dramatically, but because they had experienced the visible appearance of the Lord Jesus.

Two thousand years later we can list the existence of the Catholic Church, her life and worship and proclamation of the Gospel, as the strongest evidence of the fact of the Resurrection of Christ. But on what objective basis did that life of the Church begin at the start of those two thousand years? The Church is the objective evidence for us, but for the apostles the empty tomb alone could not bear the weight of the whole Gospel. Again, there is no getting around the testimony that in the Upper Room the eleven disciples did in sober fact encounter a truly objective return of the One Who was dead and Who is alive for evermore. Whatever may be the faith of subsequent Christians, the record is clear that those eleven men were convinced by their own experience that Christ is risen. It gave them the certainty of absolute conviction. And only this explains the subsequent events, the heroic preaching of Peter, the conversion of Paul, the steadfast courage in the face of suffering and death, and the spread of Christian faith far and wide and among all races and cultures.

Once the apostles had accepted the fact of the Resurrection, Christ commissioned them to be sent out, in the closest proximity to His own ministry from the Father. "As the Father has sent Me, even so send I you." And it is Christ's provision for all time that those who believe the apostolic witness will have the same conviction and the benefits of those who were in the Upper Room. "Blessed are they who saw not and have believed."

There is one little fact, usually not mentioned, that proclaims in our own day this link between the apostles in the Upper Room and you and me on a Sunday morning. You and I were not in that Upper Room. But because of the experience there, at the very beginning of Christianity, the ancient day of worship, the Sabbath, was changed to Sunday. If Jesus had simply lived a life of unparalleled holiness and love, and died in a supreme act of self-sacrifice on the Cross, perhaps as a remembrance of Him some of His followers would have adopted Friday as the Lord's Day. No one would ever have appointed Sunday, the first day of the work week. But Christ rose from the dead on the first day of the week, and you and I worship on Sunday as our participation in that witness.

Sunday by Sunday is the sacred trust in our hands of the saving truth of the Risen Lord.

PARISH NEWS

You can reach the Stewardship Committee by email at stewardship@saintceciliaparish.org or leave a message with Jill Morazzini at the Parish Office. 508-881-1107.

In 1981, the Quotidien de Paris announced: The Pope has appointed the new archbishop of Paris. He is Jewish." Cardinal Lustiger developed World Youth Day and made his mark in other very significant ways. Watch a wonderful film about this papabile. The original film's title is, Le métis de Dieu (trans : half-breed of God) which describes this disquieting film precisely. Come for social interaction and intellectual stimulation. Planning to attend? Please email Marcia at youthministry@saintceciliaparish.org. About three film showings a year will be chosen to prompt good conversation about various aspects of our Catholic faith.

Join the Saint Cecilia Book Club The first meeting of the Saint Cecilia Book Club will take place at the Family Center on Friday evening, June 26th. Exact time TBD. Please contact Marcia at youthministry@saintceciliaparish.org for any questions. Four books have been ordered and should arrive for borrowing on or about May 6. Please watch the bulletin for updates. Thomas Friedman commented in a 1996 interview with Jim Lehrer: There are two superpowers in the world today in my opinion. There's the United States and there's Moody's Bond Rating Service. The United States can destroy you by dropping bombs, and Moody's can destroy you by downgrading your bonds. And believe me, it's not clear sometimes who's more powerful. Our first book will be Moody's first autobiography focused on his conversion to Catholicism entitled, The Long Road Home. He wrote a second one; however, we will read his first work. Boston College bestowed an Honorary Law Degree on Moody. In addition, Pope Pius XI made him a Knight Commander of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem.
