Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

August 7, 2016

Arise, O God, and defend us!

Much will be required of the person entrusted with much, and still more will be demanded of the person entrusted with more.

MISSION STATEMENT

We, the people of St. Michael's Catholic Parish, are many parts, but one body. As a community of believers in Jesus Christ and inspired by the Holy Spirit, we celebrate the sacraments, are challenged by Sacred Scripture and Roman Catholic Tradition, share of ourselves in service to others, and strive to promote the dignity of all human life and justice for all, as we continue toward the eternal glory of God's kingdom.

JOURNEY OF FAITH (HOLINESS) . . .

Once I heard a vivid lecture about the early monks and nuns who left all they had, went into the barren desert, and lived in semi-isolation to become holy, to become fit for God. They made their living by braiding baskets from palm leaves; they spoke to one another rarely; they were alone for weeks at a time; they carried all their water, sometimes as far as ten miles; they imposed difficult disciplines on their bodies. As I listened, a realization suddenly struck me, and I turned to the priest sitting next to me to whisper, "I have never wanted anything that much!" He shook his head, "Me neither."
— Kathleen O'Connell Chesto, Journey of Faith, Liguori Publications, 2005

Saint Alphonsus Liguori said: "All holiness consists in the love of God; but the love of God consists in conformity to the will of God; therefore, all holiness consists in conformity to the will of God." It is vitally important to understand that God's will is evident to us not only in the Scriptures and in the Church, not only in prayer and meditation but also in the responsibilities, commitments, and concrete circumstances of our lives.

Many of us have a kind of split view of life, believing that there are "holy" things (like prayer, meditation, and attending Mass) and "worldly things" (like preparing a report at the office, eating breakfast, and playing games with our children). In truth, holiness embraces our total human experience of prayer, family life, work life and recreation.

Here and now, you can find holiness in your personal experience of putting forth your best, most ethical efforts in the workplace; lovingly raising your children; and building good relationships at home and at work. If you make all of these part of your loving response to God, you are on the path of holiness.
— Fr. Daniel Lowery, C.Ss.R., Journey of Faith, Liguori Publications, 2005

The Saints In Mercy — by Fr. Antonio Sicari, O.C.D.

"Mercy for the Little Ones"

St. Jerome Emiliani is not very well known. All the same, the Church has given him a special title: "Universal Patron Saint of Orphans and Abandoned Youth." He was a nobleman in Venice at a time when his native city and the whole of Europe were devastated by famine and the plague. Rather than seek refuge behind his nobility and comfortable social status, Jerome instead listened to "the infinite lament of the poor". By day, he spent the money he earned by selling his possessions to assist as many poor people as possible, while at night he went through the city gathering up the sick and burying the corpses he found abandoned in the Venetian alleyways. Eventually, he gathered around him several hundred homeless children, creating a type of extended family for them. He provide the youngsters with vocation teachers in addition to the means and classrooms to educate them. In this, he introduced them to a dignified life of work. The pillars of the school were prayer, charity, and work.

"This Holy Year will bring to the fore the richness of Jesus' mission echoed in the words of the prophet: to bring a word and gesture of consolation to the poor, to proclaim liberty to those bound by new forms of slavery in modern society, to restore sight to those who can see no more because they are caught up in themselves, to restore dignity to all those from whom it has been robbed.

Parents — Do you encourage your children to develop their talents and gifts? Do you encourage your children to think of Church ministry as a possible life choice?
