What Does the Catholic Church Teach About....?

Question:

It was brought to my attention the fact that some who attend Sunday Liturgy actually pay attention to the Eucharistic Prayer being said. So I was asked, "How can I know which Eucharistic Prayer is being used?"

My Answer:

In a previous article I had spoken of the four Eucharistic Prayers that are used during Masses. However, I'm not sure I spoke of the selection of those prayers for the Sunday Liturgy. So let me start there. This is an excerpt from the General Instruction of the Roman Missal, G.I.R.M.

The Eucharistic Prayer

364. The purpose of the many prefaces that enrich The Roman Missal is to bring out more fully the motives for thanksgiving within the Eucharistic Prayer and to set out more clearly the different facets of the mystery of salvation.

365. The choice among the Eucharistic Prayers found in the Order of Mass is suitably guided by the following norms:

- a. Eucharistic Prayer I, that is, the Roman Canon, which may always be used, is especially suited to be sung or said on days when there is a proper text for the Communicantes (In union with the whole Church) or in Masses endowed with a proper form of the Hanc igitur (Father, accept this offering) and also in the celebrations of the Apostles and of the Saints mentioned in the Prayer itself; it is likewise especially appropriate for Sundays, unless for pastoral considerations Eucharistic Prayer III is preferred.
- b. Eucharistic Prayer II, on account of its particular features, is more appropriately used on weekdays or in special circumstances. Although it has been provided with its own Preface, it may also be used with other Prefaces, especially those that summarize the mystery of salvation, such as the common Prefaces. When Mass is celebrated for a particular dead person, the special formula may be inserted in the place indicated, namely, before the Memento etiam (Remember our brothers and sisters).
- c. Eucharistic Prayer III may be said with any Preface. Its use is preferred on Sundays and feast days. If, however, this Eucharistic Prayer is used in Masses for the Dead, the special formula for the dead may be used, to be included at the proper place, namely, after the Omnes filios tuos ubique dispersos, tibi, clemens Pater, miseratus coniunge (In mercy and love unite all your children).
- d. Eucharistic Prayer IV has an invariable Preface and gives a fuller summary of salvation history. It may be used when a Mass has no Preface of its own and on Sundays in Ordinary Time. Because of its structure, no special formula for the dead may be inserted into this prayer.

All that being said, Eucharistic Prayers I, III and IV are the forms that can be used in Sunday Liturgies. You can tell which one it is by the opening line.

Eucharistic Prayer I starts, "To you, therefore, most merciful Father,..."
Eucharistic Prayer III starts, "You are indeed Holy, O Lord, ..."
Eucharistic Prayer IV starts, "We give you praise, Father most holy, ..."

Peace

Deacon Tom
