

SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER

SUNDAY OF DIVINE MERCY

Gift of Peace

O Risen Lord,
you came that we might believe.
With Thomas,
we proclaim your sovereignty.
Acclaiming, “my Lord and my God,”
we announce our faith in you.

Help us during those times
when we suffer trials, and doubts tempt us.
You offer us peace,
providing us with the serenity to offer
such peace to others.

Guide us as we go forth
to wherever you send us.
Be at our side as we bring your Word
to family, friends, co-workers, strangers.
You live and reign with God the Father in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

My Lord and My God!

Today's Readings: Acts 4:32-35; Psalm 118; 1 John 5:1-6; John 20:19-31

By the end of today's Liturgy of the Word, we might ask ourselves about the difference our faith has made in our lives. From the Acts of the Apostles, we see how the disciples' lives changed because of their belief. Now, they were of “one heart and soul,” living with everything in common. They witnessed to the Resurrection and shared all they had.

Throughout the First Letter of John, it is evident that belief in Jesus Christ is key to our lives. Faith, we hear, is the victory that conquers the world. How can we be afraid if we live with such faith?

The story of Thomas in today's Gospel may resonate with many, for some doubt often accompanies belief. Thomas does not believe when the disciples say, “We have seen the Lord.” He is hesitant until the Lord appears before him. Often, we would like to be Thomas and have that solid proof. Instead, we need to rest in Jesus' proclamation, “Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed.” Though we have not seen with our physical eyes, we have seen with the eyes of faith and have believed. The question is whether that belief has made a difference in our lives and the lives of others. How is God's love and mercy reflected to those around us, as we go about our every-day lives?

Dear Fellow Music Ministers,

I wish to take this opportunity to express my love, gratitude and appreciation to each and every one of you. For the last six weeks all of you have gone above and beyond the usual call of duty, rehearsing tirelessly at least one night and for many of you two nights per week. Your hard work and dedication culminated once again in enhancing our beautiful Triduum and Easter Sunday celebrations, leading us all in very moving musical prayer. Thank you to each and every cantor and choir member for lending us the gift of your wonderful voice, which really brought life to the sung prayer in our liturgies. I am so grateful that we have such a spectacular pool of extremely talented instrumentalists to call upon...some of whom are with us weekly, and some of whom join us for our special celebrations! A great shout of thank you to Bert, Rick, Chris, Craig, Jacob, Christian, Brandis, and David...you all added such beauty to our liturgies! To you, Carlyne, there are no words to express my gratitude for all that you gave of yourself preparing for, and conducting these Triduum and Easter liturgies, and for all that you give us week after week! Your talent and creative imagination are truly amazing!! My prayer for all of you is for some well deserved rest and a blessed and joyous Easter season. It is a privilege and an honor to be serving with all of you!

With prayerful gratitude,

Craig

"The community of believers was of one heart and mind and no one claimed that any of his possessions was his own." (Acts 4:32) All that we are and all that we have is a gift from God! Think of your family, your friends, your talents and abilities – these are all gifts from God. We aren't really owners of anything, we are merely "stewards" of the gifts with which God has blessed us.

This Week At Home

Monday, April 13: Being Born from Above

The conversation between Jesus and Nicodemus went to the very heart of Mosaic Law — how can one get right with God and enter into God's Kingdom? Jesus' answer was brief and startling, "no one can enter the kingdom of God without being born from above." This new birth of which Jesus spoke was the beginning of a spiritual birth, a new and radical birth in the Holy Spirit. How is the Spirit the active transforming agent at work in your life? Acts 4:23-31; Psalm 2; John 3:1-8

Tuesday, April 14: Relying on the Holy Spirit

The Hebrew word for "spirit" means both "wind" and "breath." We often hear and feel the wind, but we don't often know where it comes from. Likewise, we see the Holy Spirit at work in the lives of people. The Spirit is our guide who gives us strength to witness, spread, and defend the Gospel by word and action. Often, though, we do not seek the counsel of the Spirit. How can you make reliance on the Spirit part of your life? Acts 4:32-37; Ps 93; John 3:7b-15

Wednesday, April 15: Seeing God in Others

In today's Gospel, we hear that God did not send his Son into the world to condemn it but to save it. As we seek to bring the Gospel to others, we must remember that it is not our job to condemn. We are rather, Pope Francis states in The Joy of the Gospel, "to see God in others and to go forth from ourselves to seek the good of others". We need to be aware that our love for others radiates God's love. Acts 5:17-26; Ps 34; Jn 3:16-21

Thursday, April 16: Living Without Fear

During Easter Time, the First Reading is from the Acts of the Apostles, a book of the New Testament that tells of how the Apostles spread the Gospel. In today's reading, the Sanhedrin remind the Apostles that they already have been warned not to speak of Jesus' works. The Apostles' response shows that they will not back down, even though their lives may be at risk. It is obvious that they have heeded Christ's words and are not afraid. Acts 5:27-33; Ps 34; John 3:31-36

Friday, April 17: Blessings in Abundance

We see in today's Gospel how God nourishes us in so many ways. The crowd that has followed him is bound to be hungry. Jesus knows that they want to hear from him, but he also knows that they need physical nourishment, too. He does not let them go hungry but provides so much food that twelve wicker baskets are left over. Do we sometimes think that God will give us only enough or do we realize the abundance of our blessings in him? Acts 5:34-42; Ps 27; John 6:1-15

Saturday, April 18: Do Not Be Afraid

Today's Gospel account tells of the Apostles being alone at sea in a storm and describes the situation as "dark." The Apostles were not only experiencing physical darkness but spiritual darkness as well. When Jesus appears to them, John tells us that the disciples were "terrified." But Jesus reassures them and calms the sea, saying, "It is I. Do not be afraid." When calamities or trials threaten to overwhelm us, how do we respond? Can we remember Christ's caution to the Apostles? Acts 6:1-7; Psalm 33; John 6:16-21
