TODAY IS THE PARISH PICNIC!!!

It has been said many times, "Everyone's a critic." And usually, we all are in one way or another.

People also speak of "Monday morning quarterback". These folks dissect the big Sunday game on Monday morning, around the water cooler, rendering opinions on why the team lost.

Folks play quarterback in other areas of life as well, especially when it comes to our faith. Critics surround us, seeking to tell us how to witness, how to do Jesus' work. Sometimes it is important to listen to such critics. But how can we move on with our work?

Jesus faced critics all the time...many, many Monday morning quarterbacks. By focusing on what God wanted Him to do, Jesus did not let the critics crush Him or His vision. Instead, He recognized that in seeing all the world as God's field, He had to continue on with what God wanted Him to do.

So must we. Monday morning quarterbacks cannot be permitted to bring the work of the Kingdom to a grinding halt.
