People today are thrilled by exclusivity. Clubs, restaurants, resorts appeal to our ego by telling us we're part of the "select membership", the "chosen few". It boosts our self-esteem to think that the society we've joined isn't just for everyone. Our world especially loves a secret society, where not even members know all the other members. It makes us feel a cut above those who don't know the secret password or handshake, who aren't one of "us".

How different God's "society" is! With God there are no exclusive clubs to join, no special knowledge reserved only for the initiated, no secrets. Jesus tells us in the Gospel today, "What I say to you in the darkness, speak in the light, what you hear whispered, proclaim on the housetops."

Christianity is a tell-all, see-all faith, where everyone is welcome on equal terms and God's wisdom is available to all. How freeing to know that by God's grace each of us are already part of the most select group in creation: His chosen children who have been redeemed by the blood of Christ.
