We're taught the words of fair play at a young age. Playground phrases like "tit for tat" or "even steven". We must give back an equal share to what we have received. Marcy shares her cupcake today. Tomorrow we share our cookies. These schoolhouse manners are meant to be behavioral guidelines throughout our adult lives.

Too bad the rules are wrong. "Even steven" doesn't cut it in the kingdom of God. In the parable of the talents, servants are expected to use their coins to make a profit for their master. When one servant returns exactly what he received, one lowly coin, he's cast out.

The message is painfully clear. God isn't looking for a fair return on His investment; He's looking for more. When He gives us a gift, we're to use it daily, building the kingdom brick by brick. If we bury our talents, or use them only for ourselves, we will surely be paid in the same coin. God will shun us as we have shunned His gifts.

Take a moment this week to ask yourself, am I a good investment for God's wealth or just a fair return?

COMMUNITY THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Community Thanksgiving Service will be held this evening, November 19, at 6:00 PM, at St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 1103 James Ave. Rev. David Thompson will deliver the homily. The service will be followed with a reception, and all are invited to share the meal.

STEWARDSHIP THOUGHT

Today, Catholics of all ages and financial backgrounds are sacrificial givers who grow in spirit. For example, they often experience greater peace and sense of purpose, have fewer conflicts about money, have less concern for material goods and they have strengthened trust in God's love and care. And, many find they're better managers of their resources.

Remembrance of Our Beloved Dead

The greatest charity we can confer on our beloved departed is the charity of our prayers. How often do we hear people say in reference to a departed loved one: "If I had only been more kind and more helpful to him during his life on earth!"

Well, it is still not too late. As St. Jerome said: "We have loved them in life, let us not forget them in death."

The English poet Wordsworth wrote: "Pray for the dead; more is wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." Indeed, we should pray for the souls of the faithful departed, not only during the month of November, but all through the year. Who of us can be so presumptuous as to conclude that he will not need such prayers after we are called out of this world?
