Holyday & Weekday Masses

As scheduled in the bulletin.

Longing for the good old days? Stick around enough years and they'll be back. Society seems to repeat the same fashions, passions and sins with each new generation. Take today's gospel for example. It tells us in Noah's day people were consumed with their day to day lives, comfortable in their self-sufficiency. Who had time for prophecies of doom when there were mouths to feed, children to raise and bills to pay? When life slowed down enough, they'd stop by and ask Noah about that rainy forecast.

Sound familiar? Haven't we fallen into the same pattern, trying to fit Bible study or prayer into the spare slots of our daily planners? God calls us to be ready, and we forget to write Him on our "to do" list. The Bible tells us that if we don't prepare our hearts and minds for Jesus' second coming, we will be left behind.

So let's pray today to stop repeating the slumbering sins of the past. Instead may we become newly awakened creatures, watching for our Lord.

News from your Parish School
Make way for HOPE

The Advent season is here and as we open our hearts and minds for the arrival of the Word Made Flesh, let us recall how important hope is for each one of us.

Hope is the means by which we continue to move forward, with the promise of better things to come. Faith is our stronghold for the greatest gift, eternal life. As Christmas approaches the students at St. Rose of Lima will begin their journey of hope with their eyes fixed on Bethlehem. Each week before the 8:10 a.m. Mass, 8th grade students will lead a weekly advent prayer service.

This time in prayer reinforces the daily lessons on advent occurring in the classroom and will prepare them for the spiritual gift of our Lord at Christmas. Join our school family each week as we prepare the way of the Lord and celebrate the ultimate gift of his precious body and blood each week at Mass.

"but those who hope in the LORD will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint."

Growing in FAITH

Discovering hope and joy in the Catholic faith.

Special Advent Issue 2016

St. Rose, St. Mary, St. John the Baptist, and St. Wenceslaus Churches

Fr. Timothy Kosler, Pastor

Advent - Peace in a time of frenzy

Advent is a peaceful and reflective time. A time to prepare our hearts and minds for the coming of our Savior. So, how can a sensible Catholic spiritually prepare for the coming of Jesus amidst the frenzy and bright lights of the holiday season? According to the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops: "Catholicism does not call us to abandon the world, but to help shape it. This does not mean leaving worldly tasks and responsibilities, but transforming them."

Try these tips for "transforming" worldly holiday tasks into acts of prayer, penance, and almsgiving:

Shopping & gift-giving

- Giving handmade gifts is a way to show our love and honor the artisans who make them at the same time. Good sources are craft fairs in your community that feature goods by local artists where you can find everything from wooden toys to hand-knitted scarves and socks.

- "Fair-Trade" import stores offer one-of-a-kind gifts from around the world. (See www.fairtradefederation.org.) Plus, when you do your shopping away from the mall and the large retailers, your gift-giving dollars support good causes and the artisans who made the things you choose.

- If somebody on your list 'has everything', think about making a donation to a good cause in their name. For example, a good idea for a teacher's gift would be a contribution to a program that supports literacy. Follow with a card stating your intention.

- Give spiritual bouquets by offering a rosary (or more) for people on your gift list. Make cards that detail your thoughtful gift. If you prayed for a particular intention, be sure to include that in your card.

- Include in your Christmas cards a note about all the blessings you have received this year. Not only will your friends and family enjoy reading about your good news, your card will be a testament to God's loving care.

Tree trimming and decorating

- The ideal practice would be to hold off decorating for Christmas until Christmas Eve, but that isn't always practical. Instead, decorate your home and your tree when you have time, but don't light the tree till Christmas Eve. That's one way to signify the coming of the "light of the world."

- Or, to increase the excitement and anticipation of Christmas, set up your tree, put on the lights, but don't decorate it. Instead, add one ornament a day throughout Advent. On Christmas Eve, add the rest and light the tree on Christmas morning. Step back and be delighted with your handiwork.

- Set up your nativity scene but leave out the Holy Family. Put Joseph, Mary and Jesus in their places on Christmas Eve and add the Baby the next morning.

Housekeeping

- While you clean house in preparation for the holidays, make an examination of conscience. Advent is exactly the right time to reflect on the ways that we have failed to honor God or each other and to decide to start fresh. First make a heartfelt confession. Reconciliation will let you greet Christmas with a heart full of peace and joy.

- As you spruce things up around the house, look for ways to repair relationships. Remember, we are called to love and kindness — and not just to our favorite people. "By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another" (John 13:35).

- While you are cleaning out closets or sorting laundry, make a phone call to someone you haven't seen in a while.

- When running errands, take the time to visit someone who is alone. Such small acts of love take only a moment, but the warm memory lasts a long time.

- After going through your closets and cleaning out the clutter in your home, pick a bad habit you would like to kick and resolve to do it during Advent. Avoid overeating, quit smoking, stop gossiping, resolve to always tell the truth, or promise to use gentle, non-violent language. Offer your sacrifice as a birthday gift to the Savior at Christmas.

Parties

- Transform a holiday get-together into an occasion for charity and helping others. Suggest each guest bring a child's toy to the party, and take responsibility for getting them to "Toys for Tots" or another charity that helps needy families have a joyful Christmas. Bonus: for many grown-ups without children, the chance to choose something they know will light up a kid's life is fun.

- Put out a large punch bowl or salad bowl and ask for donations for your favorite charity. People in a festive mood will feel generous toward those without such opportunities.
- Instead of automatically buying a new outfit for a holiday party, spruce up something you already have and put the money you saved in the poor box at church.
- Pick one Sunday and host an Advent celebration. Light an Advent wreath with your guests and play music with lyrics about waiting, patience, hope, or other themes of Advent.

Don't forget to make time during Advent for quiet prayer and reflection. The graces you receive from the time you spend with God will be your gift for Christmas.
