Dear Friends,

Thank you for all the beautiful cards, well wishes, concerns and caring during my recent confinement.

Sincerely,
Rita O'Brien

I appreciate all those who gave of their time to assist at the liturgies, the Eucharistic Ministers, Lectors, Altar Servers, and Ushers.

Needless to say it was through your generosity that we were able to buy plants and other decorations to make the sanctuaries of both churches look so festive for the occasion. A thank you to those who gave of their time to help decorate Blessed Sacrament and St. Margaret

All in all it was a wonderful celebration and your help and support are greatly appreciated.

Eucharistic Ministers Needed

Both parishes are looking for additional Eucharistic Ministers. If interested please submit your name to Fr. Tim. There will be a training for Eucharistic Ministers on Thursday, April 30th at 7:00 p.m. at Blessed Sacrament. This is a very important ministry and you are asked to consider whether you are being called.

From the Pastor:

A couple of years ago during a Lenten Mission I heard Dan pose the question: Does the gospel point out Thomas' doubt or is his disbelief a result of the fact he is certain that rising from the dead is impossible? Dan Schutte said that the opposite of faith is not doubt but certainty. The only thing that was going to change Thomas' mind was seeing and touching the wounds inflicted on Jesus during his passion. Yet his determined thinking blinded him to the signs that were present to him; signs that indicated that something very different and powerful had taken place. As he stood in the room with the disciples he failed to notice how they had gone from this timid group of people, hiding in this room for fear of their lives, to an exuberant group of people bubbling over with the good news that Jesus was alive. Had he not been so certain would he have noticed that the fear that filled the room had been replaced with the gift of Christ's peace. The evidence was overwhelmingly present to Thomas but he missed it.

We see a similar situation with the two on the road to Emmaus. Jesus walks with them but they cannot recognize him. They are so focused on themselves and their loss that they cannot see who stands before them.

On the other hand we have a story of Jesus who is faced with a challenge to what he believes to be true and of the Father. It is the story of the Syro-phonician woman. Remember this woman interrupts Jesus while he is dining. She begs him to heal her daughter. Jesus responds that it is not right to give the food of the children to the dogs. She replies but even the dogs eat the scraps from the master's table. Jesus, raised as a Jew, believes that salvation is for the Jews alone. The Messiah was sent to restore the Jews to the Father. Yet what he hears in her voice is faith, reason, and undoubtedly the voice of the Father. He heals the daughter. Jesus had every right to turn the woman away, it was backed by his tradition, his peers, society at the time but he was open enough to recognize what was before him, the signs, the voice, what was of the Father.

Where does that leave us? I suspect we all have had conversations, using the term loosely, with people who are not the least bit open to opposing ideas or even to looking at a given situation with other eyes. The gospel poses the question to us. Are we a Thomas or are we Christ-like? If we are a Thomas what are we missing? If we are Christ-like what possibilities lie before us.

Fr. Tim
